HAVE YOUR SAY OVER HOSPITAL

By Lisa O'Brien

LEADING doctors in Cannock Chase are urging the public to offer their thoughts on plans to operate reduced hours at the Minor Injuries Unit at Cannock Hospital.

A public consultation is being launched into plans to introduce the reduced hours unit following protests over initial proposals to close the facility. Consultation documents are now being drawn up by the cash-strapped Cannock Chase Clinical Commissioning Group after council chiefs made the recommendation during a meeting on Monday.

The group had originally planned to shut the minor injuries unit at the Brunswick Road site in a bid to save £750,000, but the public will have the chance to share their views on the new proposals next month.

Health bosses had come up with revised plans to get GPs to run the service following a public outcry. But council chiefs ordered a review tosee what was feasible and a working group looked at a number of options. It was recommended the unit should remain open, but with reduced hours.

Staffordshire County Council's healthy Staffordshire select committee voted in recommendations for the CCG to launch a four-week public consultation on the plans during a meeting on Monday.

Committee chairman Councillor Kath Perry said: "The initial proposal was to close it completely. We are a little more comfortable with what is being proposed."

Under the plans, it would open from 11am to 7pm, seven days per week. The service is currently open 8am until midnight. A GP out-of-hours service would run from 6.30pm to 8am the following day to deal with minor illness.

Bosses say the majority of patients currently attend between 9am and 7pm, but staying open between these hours would span more than one shift pattern and would therefore incur higher staffing costs.

Health bosses say the unit can take up to 20,000 patients a year, but it is attracting only 16,414. Of those, 76 per cent are able to be treated by a doctor or have to be sent away to another hospital.

CCG boss Andy Donald said: "The need to look at alternative arrangements for Cannock Hospital's MIU is nothing to do with the current service provided by the staff of that unit. The team at the MIU do an exceptional job."

Thousands of Amazon festive jobs

AMAZON will be taking on 2,500 temporary workers at its Rugeley base this Christmas – 1,000 more than last year.

It comes as the application to double the size of the 700,000 sq ft warehouse in Rugeley was set to be approved, creating 350 new full-time jobs. Amazon already has a workforce of more than 600 at the site.

Despite reporting a loss of £74 million in its second quarter it has created 330 permanent roles at the centre between October last year and February. And the firm's new plans will provide a further boost to the workforce.

Amazon is hoping to reconfigure the interior of the building, which is home to many millions of products, in order to double its capacity.Cannock Chase Council's planning control committee was expected to approve the application this week.

Chairman of Rugeley Town Council, Councillor John Rowley has welcomed the expansion.

"Amazon has brought quite a bit of work to the people of Rugeley," he said. "It seems to be growing by the hour.

"As it comes to Christmas they will need more and more workers. "

Vandalism spree on cars left £20k bill

A JUDGE has branded a £20,000 vandalism spree in Hednesford as 'totally gratuitous damage'.

Andrew Williams scored the paintwork of 29 cars. Using a knife, he scratched the word rapist on a car belonging to a woman.

Customers in a convenience store in High Mount Street had been terrified when the 26-year-old entered with the knife in his waistband, although he never brandished it or made any threats, Stafford Crown Court was told last week.

Mr Nigel Stelling, prosecuting, said some customers kept an eye on him when he left on February 24 and saw him scoring the paintwork of 29 cars parked nearby.

Mr Stelling added: "Estimates for repairs total something in excess of £19,000."

Williams, of Heath Street, Hednesford, admitted criminal damage and possessing a blade in a public place.

He was given a six-month jail sentence, suspended for two years, and a curfew.

Mr Bernard Porter, mitigating, said Williams had had mental health issues, including depression.

He had thought about 'ending it all' but when it came to the point, he took it out on the cars. He added: "He is deeply ashamed."

Judge Paul Glenn branded the vandalism 'totally gratuitous damage'.

Youth jobless figures drop

THE level of youth unemployment across Cannock has more than halved, latest figures have revealed.

The number of people claiming jobseeker's allowance has dropped by more than 1,000 over the past three years. Statistics show there were 1,144 claimants aged 18 to 24 this June compared to 2,357 in June 2011.

The figures were presented to Cannock Chase Council economic and planning policy committee.

Plans for housing on site of ex-factory

MORE than 100 homes will be built on a former factory site in Rugeley.

An application for 120 houses has been lodged with the district council.

If approved the properties will be built on the former Ultra Electronics site in Armitage Road.

The defence specialist firm moved from the site in 2008 to Towers Business Park in the town.

Brereton and Ravenhill Councillor Alan Dudson said: "I have no problem with the application as long as the homes enhance the area."

The application has been submitted by the Royal Bank of Scotland, which has owed the land since acquiring it from housebuilder McInerney Homes after the company went into administration.

A decision will be made by Cannock Chase Council in the coming months.

In 2010 plans to build 13 homes at the site were turned down.

The proposals from developer Jessup Brothers were branded as an 'inappropriate development'.

Recently, a string of planning applications for new homes in Staffordshire have either been lodged with the district council or approved.

Last month designs for 14 properties in Norton Canes were approved.

Hair stunt for cancer charity

TWO Cannock firm are organising a hair-raising stunt to raise money for Cancer Research UK charity.

Kayleigh Schaefer, aged 28, and Alex Dakin, 21, from Swift Hygiene and UK Automotive Products will have their hair shaved off on Sunday at Cannock Cricket and Hockey Club. Miss Dakin said: "The charity is very close to our hearts and one that we have chosen to support for personal reasons."

Work starts on new fire station

CONSTRUCTION work on a new £1.8 million fire station in Penkridge has begun.

It will replace the current station in Boscomoor Lane which has been used since 1972.

The work is part of a major county-wide project that is being funded through the second phase of a government-run Private Finance Initiative (PFI) scheme. The £45m programme will see 10 fire stations rebuilt on their current sites. Others being rebuilt include Chase Terrace and Rugeley.

Penkridge Community Fire station should be operational towards the end of next year.

Station manager Graham Mills said: "The new station will be far superior to the current one, both from an operational viewpoint and as a community facility.

"It will signify a new era for the service, and we are very much looking forward to it."

The new fire stations will all be equipped with hi-tech operational facilities and also have space for more community safety activities.

Campaign over injury unit's reduced hours

CAMPAIGNERS have welcomed the decision to keep Cannock's Minor Injuries Unit open – but say they will fight against plans for reduced hours.

Doctors on Cannock Chase Commissioning Group had planned to shut the Cannock Minor Unit in a bid to save £750,000. But health bosses came up with revised plans to get GPs to run the service.

Council chiefs though said the proposals were 'wishy washy' and ordered a review. The specially-formed working group looked at all options including closing the unit, keeping it open or drafting in GPs.

It has now recommended that the unit should remain open, but with reduced hours, from 11am to 7pm, seven days a week. It is currently open from 8am to midnight.

Cannock councillor Janos Toth, who along with council leader George Adamson has been calling for the unit to be saved, said: "It looks like the CCG has listened to the public after their initial proposals were met with outrage and it showed how out of touch they are.

Proposed

"But it should not be closing at 7pm. These proposed opening hours are not good enough for a place the size of Cannock Chase."

A GP out-of-hours service would run from 6.30pm until 8am to deal with minor illness.

Bosses say the majority of patients currently attend between 9am and 7pm but staying open between these hours would span more than one shift pattern and incur higher staffing costs.

The unit would continue to be staffed by two nurses and one receptionist. A report by the CCG states: "This option offers the least disruption to patients whilst allowing an acceptable level of financial savings."

Downgrade not a done deal – MP

HEALTH Secretary Jeremy Hunt has insisted the downgrade of maternity services at Stafford is not a 'done deal'after fears were raised by the town's MP.

Jeremy Lefroy met Mr Hunt to raise concerns that services will be downgraded regardless of a review currently being carried out by health bosses.

The University Hospital of North Staffordshire will take over the hospital in November. A review of the maternity unit will not start until the trust has been dissolved in October.

Proposals had been put forward for the unit to be downgraded to a midwife-led facility, rather than staying as consultant-led. But Mr Hunt insisted the NHS is open to all options.

Mr Lefroy said: "The Secretary of State said that the NHS England review of consultant-led maternity services should be conducted in the light of the national situation regarding maternity services and that it would not be a 'done deal' as some had suggested..."He also said that it was clear that communication with patients, staff and the public in general about the plans for Stafford Hospital needed to be much clearer."

Toddling off to raise funds

Toddlers give a thumbs-up to the challenge with deputy manager Lisa Ryder

NURSERY children raised more than £900 for the Teenage Cancer Trust with an end of term toddle.

The amount was the highest collected by St John's Nursery in Heath Hayes from its annual fundraiser. Around 40 children walked around the nursery each day during the final week of term and ended with a short toddle to Gorsemoor Primary.

Sponsorship money and donations brought the total raised to £930 for the charity which had been supported by Stephen Sutton. Manager Nickie Sephton said: "We do this every year but pick a different charity, we did Stephen this year as it was so heartfelt by us all.

"Gorsemoor allows the children to use their play equipment and provide refreshments."

The nursery meets at St John's Church, Hednesford Road during term time only, from 9.15am to 3pm Monday to Friday. Afternoon places are available. Call Nickie on 01543 450740.

Date set for health group's first AGM

HEALTH bosses in Cannock will hold their first annual general meeting next month.

Cannock Chase Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) will use their first meeting to report back on their first year as a statutory body.

The AGM is being held on Thursday, September 4, from 6.30pm at The Aquarius Room, at the Aquarius Ballroom in Victoria Street, Hednesford.

The organisation's first ever annual report and annual set of accounts will be presented. There will also be an opportunity for people to ask questions.

Chairman of Cannock Chase CCG, Dr Johnny McMahon, said: "This is a great opportunity for the people of Cannock to hear about our first year as a statutory body, hear about what has gone well and what challenges we have faced.

"We will also talk about the future and take questions from the public so I'd urge people to attend, to come along and meet us."

To register an interest in attending the AGM or to request further information, email cannockccg.feedback@northstaffs.nhs.uk or call 01785 221050.

Three walks for ramblers

CHASE & District Ramblers have three walks in the pipeline. The first is on Sunday, August 17, an eight-mile moderate to strenuous walk at Youlgreave, Derbyshire. Departure time is 9am from Hednesford rail station car park, Anglesey Street.

Blithfield Reservoir is the venue for an easy five-mile walk on Wednesday, August 20. Meet at Buttercross, Abbotts Bromley for departure at 6.30pm.

A five-mile walk at Castle Ring will follow, setting off from the car park at 10am on Saturday, August 23.

Talk on reptiles

THE Friends of Etching Hill welcome a speaker on reptiles and amphibians of the British Isles at its next meeting. It takes place on Thursday, August 21, from 7.30pm at Etching Hill church hall. Admission is free and refreshments will follow.

Pub holds a fun day in aid of young Ben

RAFFLE prizes and a sweet stall will among the goodies on offer at a fun day in support of a £20,000 fundraising drive to help a disabled schoolboy to walk unaided.

Ben Baddeley, aged 10, has cerebral palsy which can leave him in severe pain. However, due to cuts in NHS funding his family now face having to pay for the treatment themselves.

Norton Canes woman Lesley Parsons has organised an event at the Pied Piper Pub, in Pye Green Road, Cannock, this weekend and she is calling for as many residents as possible to come out and support the good cause.

Prizes include nail bar and hair salon vouchers.

Proceeds will go towards the costs of physio and hydrotherapy sessions for the youngster, who lives in Stoke-on-Trent.

Mrs Parsons, of School Close, said: "I heard about him and thought I must do something to help. I didn't think it was right for him not to get his treatment.

"I would be happy if I can raise enough to cover at least one session. It costs £150 to £200 a time."

The fun day will run from midday to 3.30pm on Saturday (August 16).

30th birthday celebrations

A SHELTERED retirement home in Rugeley celebrated its 30th anniversary with a summer fete and open day.

Residents of Sneydlands, Bryans Lane, joined manager Ann Walton, staff and volunteers to run the event on Saturday. The gardens had a display depicted 1984 and this year.

Age UK physical activity volunteer Janice Weightman introduced a keep fit team display made up of members she teaches at Sneydlands and Brereton. "They looked fabulous in their green display T-shirts," she said.

Patent secured

A CANNOCK technology firm has secured a European patent for treating wallboard. Microban International is a leader in built-in anti-bacterial products. The patent covers the incorporation of the product into the wallboard to resist of mould and mildew growth.

Praise for efforts in Best Kept Village

COMMUNITIES across Staffordshire are celebrating their efforts in the county's Best Kept Village awards.

The competition is split into five areas Stafford, South Staffordshire, Lichfield-Cannock Chase, the Moorlands and East Staffordshire.

The overall winners were Acton Trussell which picked up the best kept small village title for the county and the large village prize went to Haughton, near Stafford , for the fourth year running.

Acton Trussell's best kept village co-ordinator Malcolm Nicholas, aged 71, said: "Last year we won the highly commended prize in our first year of competing. We thought we would do well again this year, and are really amazed that we won it.

The village was presented with £200 to spend on projects. Next month a special ceremony will be held in the village when a winners' totem pole with also be installed.

Haughton's best kept village co-ordinator, parish council vice-chairman Derek Warbrick, 74, said: "It was a good team effort."

The prizes for villages competing for the Rubery Owen Holdings Limited Trophy, for the Stafford area, in the large village area, went to Haughton, Weston and Great Haywood. Small village winners were Salt, Hopton and Stowe-by-Chartley.

Kinver was awarded the South Staffordshire Council/South Staffordshire Housing Association Trophy ahead of Brewood and Wombourne. In the small village category Acton Trussell was followed by Bednall and Bishops Wood. Penkridge was highly commended. Abbotts Bromley near Rugeley was the best kept large village in East Staffordshire with Yoxall and Rocester in second place, while the best small village was Denstone & Stubwood.

In Lichfield–Cannock Chase the best kept large village was Kings Bromley with Longdon-Longdon Green taking second place. In the small village category Harlaston was first.

Norton Canes and Upper Longdon were among the highly commended. The winner in each area receives a trophy and cheque from the trophy donor.

Changes planned to attract more indoor market trade

RUGELEY Indoor Market is to be improved in a bid to get more shoppers. Changes will including the addition of artwork to make the entrance more attractive.

Schoolchildren will design the artwork, which bosses hope will make the area more appealing and bright. Cannock Chase Council launched a public survey in June to seek views on the market.

By Laura Blyth

More than 260 people responded, with 67 per cent saying they shop in the market in Bees Lane and 49 per cent revealing they visit once a week.

The survey also showed the most popular items bought were sweets and cakes, followed by meat, pet supplies, technology products and furniture.

People were also asked how they would rate the market on a number of themes, including opening hours, the range of stalls, parking, and the interior and exterior of the market.

Town centre regeneration boss, Councillor Diane Todd, said: "The responses show the wide range of goods and services that people buy there and show that local people who use the market do value what it offers and the role it plays in the local community.

"Of course improvements can be made and we're very grateful for the feedback we've received.

"One of the major themes to come out of the survey was that the market needs brightening up so we'll be working with local young people on an exciting art project to do just that.

"We'll also be launching a campaign to really spread the word about Rugeley indoor market and to attract more people through the doors to find out just what's on offer."

Council bosses are hoping to encourage more stallholders and shoppers into the market by launching the Support Your Local Market campaign.

Promotional material including banners and postcards has been designed by the council to boost the market's popularity.

It is open on Tuesdays, Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays and has around 20 stalls.

Cannock Indoor Market is set to have a major refurbishment to make it more appealing to shoppers.

The district council commissioned a study into how it the market can be improved.

Off-roading challenge

DRIVERS can take their off-road vehicles for a trek across Cannock Chase, accompanied by rangers. Called 4x4 in the Forest, it takes place on Saturday, September 6 from 9.30am until noon. Drivers can join rangers for a leisure drive on the Forestry Commission tracks and trails, starting at the Birches ValleyForest Centre. The event is suitable for intermediate level drivers. The cost is £50 per vehicle and booking is essential on 01889 586593.

Sally Sandal and Natalie Pettitt get in the mood for their 1950s-style charity event

Tributes perform at charity 50s show

AN Elvis tribute act will entertain at a 1950s rock & roll night in aid of charity.

A tribute to Eddie Cochran will also perform at Lea Hall Social Club, Sandy Lane, Rugeley, on September 6 and there will be an all-American cheeseburger dinner.

Organiser Natalie Pettitt, who owns PS I Love You in the town, said: "We are encouraging people to get into the mood and to come dressed in 1950s wear and we need some rock n rollers to show us all how it's done.

"It looks set to be a great night and we are expecting a sell-out.

Overcome

"All money raised will go to the Coppafeel charity which we support and promote at PS I Love You."

Coppafeel supports people with breast cancer and those who have overcome it.

Mrs Pettitt, aged 33, opened her store in Upper Brook Street last August with her school friend Sally Sandel.

Together the two offer a bra fitting service for women who have had mastectomies as well as bras in bigger sizes.

Tickets are £10. Call the store on 01889358606.

THE BEST OF PETER RHODES

I HAVE just bought one of the 888,246 ceramic poppies planted at the Tower of London to mark the centenary of the First World War. I urge you to do the same before they are snapped up by the spivs. Today's cherished souvenir has a nasty habit of becoming tomorrow's earner on eBay.

BACK in 1914-18, people would have been pleased and surprised that their sacrifice was remembered, 100 years on, by the sale of such poppies to support military charities. Mind you, the shilling-a-day soldiers of the First World War would have been even more surprised that the price of a ceramic poppy was £25.

AFTER my item on the use of pigeons to carry messages in the First World War, a reader asks if these intelligent birds were ever used in a military coo.

SIR – I await with interest the first report of road rage between two driverless cars. (Letter to Daily Telegraph)

IT seems, little by little, the Government is paving the way for genetically modified (GM) foods, even though polls repeatedly show most people are against the stuff. We are told that the first GM crops to be "enriched with nutrients to improve health" will be harvested soon from a field trial in Britain. A crop of false flax has been tampered with so that its seeds will produce an oil rich in fatty acid which is normally only found in fish. They will feed this stuff to farmed fish. We will then eat the fish. What could possibly go wrong? Our leaders have been well and truly lobbied by the massively rich and quite unstoppable GM industry.

POINTLESS inventions. The latest fishing-kit catalogue arrives at Chateau Rhodes offering camouflaged boots. You see the problem? Dammit, I definitely put them down here somewhere . . .

IF Boris Johnson is the answer, it must be a very, very strange question.

A READER rages about a think-tank report showing that spending on infrastructure is £5,426 per head in London but only £223 in the North East. There is a simple explanation. Londoners need the new £15,000 million Crossrail project. Geordies need a shed for the whippet.

IN these days of equality, tolerance and human rights it is inevitable that the declared aim of a new sperm bank funded by the NHS is to help all couples, including lesbians. Nothing wrong with that. What strikes me as odd is that folk will be able to choose the ethnicity and eye and hair colour of the donor. So you'll be able to strike a blow for equality, tolerance and human rights, while making quite sure you get a baby of the "right" colour.

SO WHAT exactly was the point of the RAF Typhoon escorting an airliner into Manchester Airport after a passenger allegedly claimed he had a bomb? What was the pilot supposed to do - shoot it down? The sight of the Typhoon so close to the passenger plane put the fear of God into those on board. The scariest flying experience I've ever had came when a pair of RAF Phantoms appeared on either side of our Tristar on the descent into the Falklands some years ago.

AFTER my recent item on the driver in Dorset who was issued with a summons for sounding a Dixieland horn, a reader recalls an incident in Weymouth in 1973 when he was a passenger in a mate's vintage American Willys Jeep. "We were pulled over and I was given a right royal ing about the noise coming from the exhaust." When I pointed out that the steering wheel was on the other side and I wasn't the driver, the copper called me a smart * and told us to  off."

Peace breaks out as fallen honoured

MORE than 400 spectators turned out for a sporting contest to mark the centenary of the Great War outbreak.

Wyrley Juniors FC joined with local history groups to stage the Peace Games on August 2 at the club's Long Lane base, Essington.

Nearly 100 players representing 10 teams – Wyrley Wolves, Wyrley Tigers, Wyrley Panthers, Silverdale FC, Silverdale Throstles, Norton Canes, Shire Oak Villains, Cookley Tigers and Special Olympic – took part in friendly matches. Each player received a medal inscribed with 'We will remember them', presented by former Wolves keeper Matt Murray.

The event was formally opened by Deputy Lord Lieutenant of Staffordshire, James Leavesley following poignant messages from the chairmen of Cheslyn Hay and Great Wyrley Royal British Legion branches, Wilf Moore and John Talbot.

Players formed a ring of unity to observe a minute's silence.

Tony Reeves of Great Wyrley Table Tennis Club provided a table for the young people to use, while in the clubhouse, history groups put on displays of life in the villages at the start of the war together with details of local soldiers who had lost their lives. Villager Andy Parsons completed arun from Whittington to Long Lane to remember his uncle who walked the other way to sign up in 1914.

The chairmen of Great Wyrley Parish Council, Kath Perry and South Staffordshire District Council, Janet Johnson, were present, together with other councillors and a raffle of a decorated cake symbolising poppies raised £63 for the two RBL branches.

Rachel's big day saved as wedding firm steps in

Report by Charlotte Lilley

BRIDES who were left fearing for their big day when a Cannock events firm went out of business have been given a helping hand to ensure they still get the wedding of their dreams.

Wedding plans were left in tatters after Wow Weddings suddenly stopped trading, despite taking advance payments and orders worth hundreds of pounds.

Company boss Donna Hodgkiss, posted a message on Facebook declaring herself bankrupt last this week, leaving brides worried that their weddings had been ruined.

Some had paid for a package including table runners, chair covers, food, a chocolate fountain and decorations.

But now several companies from around the region have offered to help couples after the issue was featured in The Chronicle's sister paper, the Express & Star.

Among those who have been offered help is bride Rachel Layton, from Rugeley.

Contacted

She had booked with Wow Weddings in April and paid an initial deposit of £30 before being asked to hand over another £252 several weeks ago.

It was only when the 28-year-old teaching assistant was contacted by someone on Facebook that she realised there was a problem.

Rachel, who is getting married to Kevin Chamberlain, a manufacturing specialist, at Lichfield Register Office on August 29, had booked Wow to provide the likes of table and chair covers at the reception, which was being held at the Cedar Tree Hotel, Rugeley.

It left the couple, who have three children, fuming and out of pocket.

But they were contacted by Sam Badhan, from Just The Two of Us, Wolverhampton, who has stepped in. She has even been able to provide a free wishing well and table runners.

Wedding planner Melissa Grew, right, who has come to the rescue of several couples, with bride-to-be

A relieved Rachel said: "Sam has been as good as gold. We would not have been able to afford room decorations, and that would have been disheartening on the day.

"I can't thank her enough – she has been absolutely amazing.

"We have been waiting 18 months for the wedding, we have been paying bits off each month so we can afford it. You are only going to do it once."

Melissa Grew has run Bespoke Creations, Stafford, for three years and is another whostepped in to help brides left in the lurch. The 22-year-old said she felt 'devastated' for the couplesand wanted to do something to help.

"When I heard what had happened, it really pulled at myself and my staff's heartstrings," she said.

Mandy Price, the 52-year-old owner of Make my Wedding Special, Ingram Road, Leamore,said: "I cried my eyes out for these poor men and women because I treat my clients like my own family. I can only imagine what these poor people have gone through, and I would like to help them out."

Anthony Kinsey, 28, runs Classic Moments from his home in Walsall.

He said: "I would really like to be able to help some of the brides and grooms to relieve some of the stress."

Ian Wilson and his fiancée Gay Edwards, who live in Cannock, have invited around 100 friends and family to their wedding at the Littleton Arms, Huntington, in five weeks' time. The couple paid almost £200 for a package from Wow Weddings that included a marquee, chair covers, lights and a sweet shop.

Mr Wilson said: "It's an absolute disgrace the way we have been treated. "But it is really nice to see the community pulling together and other businesses stepping in to help."

Ms Hodgkiss has not responded to Press messages left on her phone .

Schools in the money after Toll donation

THE operator of the M6Toll has given thousands of pounds to nearby schools for special projects.

All primary schools within a five-mile radius of the M6 Toll corridor were invited to apply for funding over the next 12 months.

Midlands Expressway Ltd said they were 'inundated' with bids.

Among the seven schools selected to receive £2,000 were Highfields Primary School and Fulfen Primary School in Burntwood, Princefield First School in Penkridge and Jerome Primary School in Norton Canes.

Whittington Primary, Whitgreave Primary School in Featherstone and Millfield Primary School, Brownhills were the others.

Highfields Primary is looking to buy special outdoor play equipment to enhance children's learning and development

Headteacher Mark Wilkes said: "Without this type of support we would find it very difficult to provide additional facilities."

Tom Fanning, chief executive of MEL said: "The response has been a huge success. We increased our investment this year to ensure more schools could benefit from funding."

Two hurt in M6 collision

TWO people were taken to hospital following a crash on the M6 near Cannock. It caused tailbacks and long delays for drivers.

Three cars and a HGV were in collision on the southbound carriageway between junctions 11a, for the M54 and 12 at Gailey.

The incident happened at just after 9.50am last Wednesday (August 6).Two lanes were closed until the accident was cleared at around 12.40pm.

Two people received minor injuries and were taken to New Cross Hospital in Wolverhampton.

Race on Chase

RUNNERS are invited to sign up for a race across Cannock Chase. The Milford Mash Up 10k takes place on Saturday, October 18, from 11am. The route loops the Chase starting at Milford Common. To register, before, October 6, visit www.mashrunning.co.uk

Military weekend activities on Chase

HUNDREDS of families will be heading to Cannock Chase this Saturday and Sunday for an annual military history extravaganza.

Staffordshire County Council's community chief, Councillor Mike Lawrence, said: "This annual event has gone from strength to strength and this centenary year is made all the more poignant as we remember the sacrifices made by thousands of soldiers and people in our county during the Great War.

"Cannock Chase has hosted troop training since the late 19th century and trained over half a million soldiers during the Great War.

"This military legacy is echoed today in the remains of the camps and in the Commonwealth and German War Cemeteries on the Chase.

"As part of our Great War centenary commemorations, the Military Weekend offers an insight into how soldiers lived and trained throughout history."

The Royal Warwicks will be stationed in a genuine Great War barrack hut.

The free event at the visitor centre in Marquis Drive, Hednesford, runs from 10am to 4pm.

Extra buses introduced

A BUS service has been extended following calls from councillors and passengers.

The 33 service between Walsall and Rugeley will now run every 20 minutes during the daytime Monday to Saturday, instead of every half-hour. Evening services will remained unaltered.

Operator Arriva Midlands has launched the new timetable after councillors and passengers called for improvements to reliability and frequency.

Dan Flanagan, Arriva Midlands local manager at the Cannock depot, said: "We're pleased to introduce the improved timetable."

Holiday fines

THE number of fines handed out to parents in the Staffordshire for taking their children out of school during term time in the past two years shot up from 19 in 2012/13 to 92 a year later. Parents face a £60 fine per child, for breaching the rules.

Going bananas to help nominated charity

Staff and firefighters at Go Ape! Cannock

STAFF at Go Ape! are going bananas to support the Teenage Cancer Trust.

The forest adventure has 28 locations across the country, including at Birches Valley on Cannock Chase and employees from all sites have been taking part in the Big Banana Relay.

It will see the 'Big Banana' travel a total of 1,823 miles across the UK with the Go Ape! gorillas using the quirkiest forms of travel possible.

The relay kicked off at Leeds Castle, Kent, on June 14, before making its way to Cannock Chase on July 31. From there it headed to Go Ape! Delamere, near Chester. Dressed as gorillas, the Go Ape! Cannock Chase tribe of Jerry Stokes, Cara Mayne, James Scott and Maryjane Lees transported the 'Big Banana', firstly via fire engine for four miles and then on an epic cycling voyage.

The team then travelled by trike, bike, mountain board, unicycle and on a mini-monkey bicycle with the banana in tow.

Some of the money raised will help support Teenage Cancer Trust's specialist unit at Birmingham Children's Hospital. The unit provides care for 13-to-18-year-olds with cancer from across the West Midlands. Rebecca Mayhew, co-Founder and director of Go Ape!, said: "We are proud to support Teenage Cancer Trust and that our team have launched this fantastic fundraising campaign."

Kate Collins, director of fundraising for the Teenage Cancer Trust said: "Go Ape! are putting the fun back into fundraising and events like the Big Banana Relay will support our work in improving the quality of life and chances of survival for young people with cancer aged 13 to 24."

Teenage Cancer Trust has been selected by Go Ape! staff as its main charity for 2014. Donations can be made at www.justgiving.com/GoApe

Scrapmen beat binmen to grab recycling goods

A POTENTIALLY lucrative council-run scheme to recycle electrical goods has failed to take off because scrap metal dealers are beating the binmen to the items.

Cannock Chase Council launched the scheme with the aim of improving its recycling record and making some money into the bargain.

Items covered by the collection include kettles, clocks, hairdryers, electronic toys, toasters, telephones, microwave ovens, lawnmowers and power tools.

The goods are collected during normal bin rounds and deposited in a container hooked to the back of bin lorries.

But early-bird scrap dealers have thwarted the council's plans by clearing the pavements on collection days before the council lorries appear.

Councillor Brian Bottomer, chairman of the environmental policy development committee, said the authority was disappointed by the results.

He said even his own electrical waste which had been put out for the council binmen had been taken by scrap dealers.

"We haven't lost any money by it but we haven't made any either," he said.

"Electrical recycling is the most lucrative of all the recycling that a council can do but ours has ever really got off the ground. Our vehicles were being beaten by scrap merchants. They were going round the routes and picking it up first.

"People have seen it happen. I even tied one of my bags to the handles of the bin and they still cut it off and took it."

Bosses want to raise dry recycling targets. The issue is due to be discussed by the council at a meeting today (Thursday).

Helpers are needed at hospice shop

MORE volunteers are being sought at a newly-opened charity shop in Cannock.

The St Giles Hospice furniture and household shop in Walsall Road – one of 31 operated by the charity – is already proving popular.

Head of retail Lynwen Truesdale said: "We've been pleasantly surprised by just how well-received our new shop has been.

"We've also been delighted by the number who have donated goods for sale.

"Due to the success of our store, we are now recruiting volunteers."

Volunteers are needed for including sorting incoming stock, pricing and displaying items, assisting customers and working on the till.

Various shift patterns are available and full training is given. For more information, call 01543 573340. The shop is open Monday to Saturday from 9am to 5pm, and Sundays from 10am to 4pm.

Donated items can be dropped off during opening hours. Collections of quality furniture or larger or heavier items can be arranged by calling 0121 308 8008.

Say cheese as MP Burley gets married

Aidan Burley and his bride Jodie cut their cheese wedding cake after their wedding at the Houses of Parliament

THERE are not many people who would choose to get married at work.

But the Houses of Parliament provided the backdrop for Cannock Chase MP Aidan Burley to marry Jodie Jones.

The couple, now honeymooning in Bali, tied the knot in the Crypt Chapel at the Palace of Westminster last week. The Conservative MP proposed to the new Mrs Burley, aged 25, last summer while overseas.

She works for her husband at his constituency office in High Green Court in Cannock town centre. The wedding was in The Chapel of St Mary Undercroft within the Houses of Parliament followed by a reception in the Members' Dining Room.

Mrs Burley is an independent councillor for Cannock Chase's Rawnsley ward. Mr Burley, aged 35, is standing down as an MP at the next election.

His decision came following heavy criticism of his participation in a stag party in France in 2011, where he supplied the groom with a Nazi uniform. The groom, Mark Fournier, was prosecuted and fined £1,250 because wearing such uniforms is illegal in France. There had also been a Nazi-themed toast by some participants.

An internal Conservative inquiry accepted that Mr Burley had found the toast 'deeply offensive', and had not been present during any chanting.

But it took more than two years for the court case to conclude and for the report to be revealed.

Mr Burley won tin 2010 with the biggest swing to the Tories in the country.

IN MY VIEW

with Mark Andrews

IN January 2012, I had a minor shunt in the car. Damage was limited to a broken number plate and a bit of bumper scuffing. Nobody was hurt, and I never at any point suggested it was anybody's fault but my own.

So why is it, more than two-and-a-half years later, I suddenly find myself inundated with phone calls from people telling me I am entitled to compensation from the injuries I received?

One company, calling itself Access To Justice, has been particularly prolific. After every call, I have been assured that I have been removed from the database, and that I won't be hearing from them again. After probably more than a dozen calls, they finally seem to have gone quiet.

Interestingly, these characters have also come to the attention of an organisation called the Access To Justice Foundation, which has stressed that it has no connection to the calls.

"The activities of these callers are the subject of an ongoing investigation to identify the responsible company and take appropriate action," says the trust's website. I would like to have helped, but the calls always come from a withheld number, and they always seem very guarded about giving out any information about themselves.

So where did they get their inaccurate information from? Well a call from another similar company, this time called Pinpoint, let the cat out of the bag.

A few weeks earlier, I had used a company which said it would be able to get me a cheaper deal on my car insurance. I had been quite pleased with the service I received the previous year, getting my premium down from more than £400 to just £200. But this year it involved spending more than an hour on the phone with no end result.

Anyway, it transpires that by answering that company's questions, I had also unwittingly consented to having my answers sold on to other parties.

So if your car insurance is due for renewal shop around by all means, but make it clear that you do not consent to having your information passed on to anybody in the accident claims business.

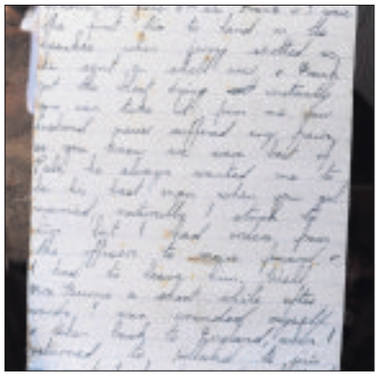
A FEW weeks ago, I jokingly suggested that Deirdre 'White Dee' Kelly off Benefits Street must be on the Conservatives' payroll. Now it seems a think tank has booked her for the party conference.

Her agent Barry Tomes says: "'Dee is very excited. She has lots of ideas about how to improve benefits."

You don't say. "Hopefully she'll get to have a drink with Mr Cameron."

Now that I would pay money to see, Dee and Dave downing shots on the Carnage tour of Magaluf.

It would be like a proletarian version of the Bullingdon Club.



A copy of the letter sent by one of Sgt Burns's comrades

Frank Burns and May, his wife of just three months

Maggie as a bridesmaid for her uncle's wedding

Niece remembers hero D-Day soldier

LISA O'BRIEN reports on the discovery of a letter which reveals the full horror of the Normandy landings

A HEART-rending letter that has been hidden away for almost 70 years has been unearthed. It shares the full horrors of the D-Day landings and the harrowing details of the death of Black Country soldier Sergeant Frank Burns.

The 33-year-old, who was part of the 6th Battalion The Green Howards (Yorkshire Regiment) was killed instantly in a shell explosion on the beaches of Normandy on June 6, 1944.

The letter, penned by a Private Grimes, to his friend's widow, described the death of his friend.

It reads: "When jerry spotted us he sent a shell over and Frank got the blast, dying instantly. You can take it from me you husband never suffered any pain.

Bundle

"Pals, he always wanted to be his best man when you got married, naturally I stuck to him, but I had orders from the officer to move forward and I had to leave him.

"Well Mrs Burns, a short while afterwards I was wounded myself and taken back to England."

The single page, of what was a longer letter was discovered by the niece of Sgt Burns, 76-year-old Maggie Bennett.

The great-grandmother, of Burntwood, was given the letter in a bundle of documents, along with pictures of her uncle, his five war medals and newspapers which had been saved and stored by her late grandmother.

Grandmother-of-four Mrs Bennett, of Ogley Hay Road, said: "I am very proud of him. He fought for his country and was a war hero. The sad part is he lost his life. It was a tragedy. It's hard when it's somebody you thought a lot of."

Maggie Bennett with pictures of her uncle Frank Burns and one of his medals

The retired mental health manager said the artefacts – in particular the letter – had helped to shed light on her uncle's heroic past.

Sgt Burns, from Wallows Road, Brockmoor, had married May just three months before the landings. He had been presumed missing following D-Day.

But the letter from Pte Grimes appears to reveal Sgt Burns had actually died.Mrs Bennett recalled how she had been a bridesmaid at her uncle's wedding to May at the age of seven.

"He had said to his wife that in three months you could be a widow and it came to fruition," she said.

"The last time I saw him was when he took me to school in Sutton Coldfield.

"He kissed me goodbye and he said I don't think I'll see you again. I couldn't understand it, being seven."

Mrs Bennett now intends to search for more information to uncover details about his past. She added: "We know from his medals that he was in France, Italy and Germany."

She also explained that no trace of any grave for her uncle had been found, but she hoped to visit Normandy to see The Bayeux Memorial which bears his name.

By coincidence, the first Allied hero to be killed on D-Day, June 6 also hailed from the Black Country – Lieutenant Herbert Denham 'Den' Brotheridge, aged 29, of Smethwick.

Lt Brotheridge, a weights and measures inspector and promising sportsman, flew in a glider to Pegasus Bridge in the French town of Caen with the Oxford and Buckinghamshire Light Infantry during the early hours of that morning.

A key strategic point over the Caen Canal, at precisely 16 minutes past midnight Lt Brotheridge led the charge in an attempt to take the bridge from the Germans.

Plaque

Although he inspired a swift victory, he was shot in the neck and died a short time later. His wife was expecting their first baby, who was born just weeks later.

Lt Brotheridge's body now lies in the War Cemetery in Ranville churchyard near Caen, and a plaque in his honour hangs in Smethwick Council House.

The crest of Sandwell was also taken by a party from the borough, including the Mayor, to a museum at Pegasus Bridge during the D-Day 70th commemorations last month, in his memory.

Roger Chapman, a historian and former curator at The Green Howards Regimental Museum, in Richmond, North Yorkshire, said that American troops had landed first on D-Day but Sgt Burns may have been one of the first British soldiers to die.

He said the 6th Battalion The Green Howards had landed on Gold Beach and the first solider from the troop to be killed would have died around 7.35am.

WEEK IN POLITICS

with Daniel Wainwright

ONE of the many buzz words kicked around by central government is 'localism' but it turns out to mean absolutely nothing.

Take, for example, the case of Sandwell Council and its stinging rebuke from the High Court over its attempt to stop itself funding 'benefits tourism'.

The Government decided it would be up to councils to decide how much, if any, discount on council tax they would offer to working-age people of limited means.

Under the Welfare Reform Act, the Government replaced council tax benefit with a grant. But it only covered 90 per cent of the bill, leaving councils to find or save the other 10 per cent. Some, such as Wolverhampton, came up with new models to charge a small amount of council tax. Others carried on as before, but just absorbed the hit.

Sandwell tried to be clever. It was prepared to take the hit but didn't want to cover the costs of new arrivals as well. So it introduced a 'residency test'. Although the example of benefits tourists from costly areas of London was given in court, the theory applied more locally.

Sandwell was effectively erecting a wall around itself to stop people from Wolverhampton or other nearby areas, where the cost was passed on to residents, from moving a few miles down the road where their annual bills would be less, at the expense of the residents already living there.

But it fell foul of the High Court. And now it's left the council licking its wounds to the tune of tens of thousands of pounds of legal fees. And it faces the headache of having to appeal or look at its system all over again. It also exposes the futility of the 'localism' agenda. Councils were given the power to decide how to cope with these changes themselves, but then the High Court can intervene and overrule the decisions of democratically elected councillors.

There are just three months left before the trust running Stafford Hospital gets dissolved.

After years of inquiries and efforts to turn it around, people in Stafford now face being left with a pale shadow of what they once had.

Thousands have marched through the streets in protest. Some even took to setting up tents to fight for a better alternative.

Kate Godfrey, Labour's candidate for Stafford in next year's General Election, thinks Tory incumbent Jeremy Lefroy should stand down and trigger a by-election to force the Government to take notice. He disagrees, saying it will leave Stafford without representation and anyone fighting for the hospital when it needs it most.

The political battle for Stafford will come next year. For now, campaigners have bigger things to worry about.

Amazon depot could double in jobs boost

ONLINE retailer Amazon was this week set to be given the go-ahead to create hundreds of jobs by doubling the capacity of its Rugeley warehouse.

Bosses wants to extend the company's 700,000 sq ft centre in Wheelhouse Lane, which opened in September 2011, with the proposals expected to create 350 permanent jobs.

Officers at Cannock Chase Council were recommending approval ahead of a planning control committee yesterday (Wednesday). More than 600 workers are currently based at the site which also takes on hundreds of temporary staff at peak times like Christmas.

Brereton and Ravenhill Parish Council has lodged an objection on the basis of the proximity of the site to existing homes.

Noise

The authority has claimed that consent should not be granted without a noise assessment and a visual impact assessment.

But environmental officers say they have been satisfied that noise will not adversely impact on neighbours.

The officers' reports adds a visual impact assessment was not necessary and that the site is about 164ft from the nearest homes.

The scheme involves creating a new entrance and extra car parking spaces.

A new roundabout would also be created and an additional bus stop provided.

The planning report reads: "Amazon would like to improve the existing vehicle circulation arrangements on site in addition to providing additional, improved parking for both cars and lorries, along with a new gate house and toilet and shower facilities for lorry drivers."

The report said the development represented a 'significant investment' into the Amazon site which will allow the business to expand.

Helen is positive of a great run for charity

Helen Carter is all smiles after completing the Bupa Great North 10k

A PRIMARY school teacher is set to tackle the Great North Run to raise money for Alopecia UK.

Helen Carter of Heath Hayes, mother to Joseph, aged six, and Sophie, four, began to lose her hair following the traumatic delivery of third child Martha a year ago.

She took on a positive stance and decided to raise both money and awareness. Having completed the Bupa Great North 10k, Helen will tackle the Great North Run in September.

The 35-year-old hopes to raise up to £1,000, adding: "Alopecia is a condition that rarely has any coverage, yet it effects so many people.

"Charities like Alopecia UK provide much-needed support."

Helen has the support of her husband Stephen, a 36-year-old power train product manager at Finning.

She said: "He's very proud of my decision to turn a negative into a positive."

Party will make its own choice

WHAT business is it of Grahame Wiggin (Ukip) to preach to the Cannock Chase Tories as to whom they select as a candidate for the General Election?

The Conservatives have every right to choose whoever they believe to be the best option for their party, in the same way as Ukip did.

Given the local Conservative Association's propensity to select low quality candidates (the sitting MP a prime example), I would have expected Mr Wiggin to be up for the fight and ready to persuade the electorate with a raft of credible policies that represent the feelings of the people of Cannock Chase. To resort to mudslinging is just low base.

Had he raised questions about the electoral system, Party funding, improving turnouts and eligibility to vote maybe he could be taken serious as a candidate.

Concern over lack of local candidate

I NOTE Susan Snape's defence of the selection of the Conservative candidate for Cannock Chase and claims misogyny in the criticisms that have been levelled at the party's choice.

I think voters of Cannock Chase are more concerned with the five wasted years we have had to suffer the embarrassment of Aidan Burley as Member of Parliament and suspicions that Cannock Chase Conservatives have had to resort to someone who can only claim distant connections to the region.

Aidan Burley was supposed to be the fresh, youthful and energetic candidate. He was heralded as the best possible candidate for the job and the right person to fight the seat.

Four years later he leaves a shattered, torn and ignored local Conservative party, a name forever associated with embarrassing stag parties and he is the most senior British politician to have criticised any aspect of the London Olympics. This is the shameful legacy he leaves Cannock Chase.

It's not that the candidate is a woman that should be a concern but the knowledge that Cannock Chase Conservatives could not find anyone locally suitable to represent the constituency in their name.

Susan Snape claims that this selection gives Cannock Chase voters a choice, but it seems that to Conservative Party members and voters wanting a local candidate there is no choice at all.

JOHN PREECE, Norton Canes

Will cabin become private enterprise?

WITH reference to your article on July 24, headlined "Volunteers lend a hand for log cabin."

It is fantastic that there are so many generous and sympathetic members of the public willing to give their time and expertise to help others. However, the article failed to mention that a large sum of money was donated by the parents and carers of those who attend Chase Day Service from the Comforts fund.

The day service is about to close and it will be interesting to see when that happens if the people this cabin was designed to help will be allowed to use it, or if it will become a private enterprise and they will be charged. Unless people can get funding it will be out of reach for most of them.

It would be interesting to know who uses the cabin on the other five days of the week, what contribution they have made and if there is room to expand the use further for the people with special needs.

Scandal 'fraud' claim

I IMAGINE many were up in arms over disrespectful conspiracy theories when I claimed the Stafford Hospital scandal was a big fraud, set up to promote privatisation. So what a surprise to see the recent Cancer Services sell-off. They will charge very highly to treat people with easy-to-cure cancers, and leave the difficult cases to the NHS – like other private health companies. What a blow to those who could not maturely accept the loss of their elderly parents.

PAUL CLOTHIER, Great Wyrley

Claims of misogyny are childish

HOW sad that so early in the 2015 election campaign the Conservative branch chairman attempts character assassination (Letters, July 31).

It is childish to descend to accusations of misogyny just because I am male. I smell desperation in the Tory camp already.

To reassure the electorate about Ukip, of 24 of its MEPs, seven are female. Of the six Ukip councillors on Chase Council, two are female. I apologise for suggesting that Cannock Tories selected from an all female list if that is incorrect.

As to why I questioned the choice, the Tory group leader said he would prefer a local candidate. Ukip believes electors prefer a local candidate if possible. There is an election next year and I am a local candidate, simple.

On providing the greater choice, we need to free our people from the EU – which only Ukip is fighting for.

Have a say on the future of libraries

BETWEEN now and October 7, Staffordshire County Council is asking everyone interested in the future of their local library to get involved in our consultation programme.

We're proposing developing our online service and reorganising our 43 libraries so that some remain directly in county council hands, while others could be managed and run by community volunteers.

Come to one of our face-to-face meetings, book to attend a presentation or workshop, fill in a questionnaire or go online.

Details of meetings are available at your nearest library, or at www.staffordshire.gov.uk/leisure/librariesnew/Help-shape-library-service/Help-shape-library-service.aspx

Retail outlet will bring no long-term benefits

I WAS glad to see the letter from P. Keeling on July 31 regarding the designer outlet village. I was pleased to note I am not alone in feeling that this development will not bring in any long-term benefits to the area.

The road infrastructure even taking into account the proposed improvement at Churchbridge is not suitable for the predicted volume of traffic and it will take trade away from already struggling local areas.

I am sure I speak for most neighbouring that if it goes ahead it could cause considerable problems for them with traffic as well as parking as based on the proposal 2,000 parking spaces this may not be sufficient.

The tragic death that brought gift of life

IT is a story of hope and love born out of every parents' worst nightmare.

Joan Oskoui was on the other side of the world when she received the heart-breaking phone call that her beloved daughter Michelle had been seriously injured in a car crash.

Michelle Oskoui

It was the week before Christmas 2009 and Michelle, 36, who lived in Longdon, near Rugeley, had been driving to work at Shugborough Hall. She was hit by another car near the estate's rear entrance and both drivers later died in hospital.

Michelle, who at the time of the tragedy was planning to marry her boyfriend Allan King in Lichfield, was registered as an organ donor.

For Joan, 65, it would be the start of a remarkable journey that would see make contact with father-of-two Ian Hull whose life had been saved by Michelle's kidney and pancreas.

Speaking from her home in Los Angeles four years on, Mrs Oskoui recalled: "Ian and I couldn't wait to email each other.

"Everyday I waited with anticipation to see if an email from Ian was in my Inbox. Finally the day came in January 2012 and we emailed each other and from then onwards our friendship grew stronger.

"Ian and I continued to write to one another and we sent each other photographs and his partner Diane also began to write to me.

Michelle's fiancé Allan, mother Joan, and organ recipient Ian Hull

"They both gave me so much strength to carry on with my life that I really believe I would not be alive today if it wasn't for their kind words of comfort.

"I feel that Ian, Diane, Lisa and Daniel are not only my dear friends but my family. After the emails I began to receive phone calls from Ian every other week and it was wonderful. We both knew how we looked and sounded but we had still to meet each other in person."

And in June last year they arranged to meet in Grasmere, in the Lake District where Michelle's ashes are buried among the bluebells.

Joan added: "I would like to emphasise to everyone to seriously consider becoming an organ donor as you have no idea how much comfort it brings to a donor's family and of course not only new life to a recipient but to their families too, and how strangers can become lifetime friends and family."

For more details about becoming an organ donor and to sign up go to www.organdonation.nhs.uk

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Brian Stanley feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done.

We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service Wolverhampton and the surrounding area and Brian is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Brian a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Police chief's pride as new role beckons

HE was the police chief during the most challenging years his force ever faced, steering it through £30 million of cuts and coping with the loss of hundreds of staff.

Now Mike Cunningham is moving on, becoming one of four people appointed to the post of Her Majesty's Inspector of Constabulary.

He was approved by the Prime Minister and the Queen to oversee the work of 43 police forces, reporting on their work and effectiveness.

Current inspections include assessments of undercover policing, and of the police's response to domestic abuse and child sexual exploitation.

Mr Cunningham, a 53-year-old father-of-two, will step into the role next month, replacing Roger Baker.

The father-of-two says working with other agencies had helped to cut crime and new technology was due to be rolled out to allow officers to have information at their fingertips.

Outgoing Chief Constable Mike Cunningham at Cannock Police Station

Preserve

Mr Cunningham says: "£30m has been taken out of Staffordshire Police over five years. We've lost about 700 people in Staffordshire Police, around half police officers and half police staff, but I believe what we've been able to do is to preserve the people that work in front line operational delivery.

"We've thought of different ways of working. Crime has significantly reduced since 2009. There's massive reductions in things like burglaries and vehicle crime. We've underpinned the importance of partnership delivery.

"I'm convinced that good successful community safety is delivered by multi-agencies."

Mr Cunningham said he was proud to have played a key part in setting up the Multi Agency Safeguarding Hub in Staffordshire. He also helped to set up Integrated Offender Management (IOM), bringing together organisations from the public and private sectors as well as volunteers and groups, to try to keep prolific offenders away from crime's revolving door.

Theory

The use of number-plate recognition devices has increased and helped to drive down crime, while tablets are also being rolled out.

The theory is that the more that is done to free a police officer from paperwork or having to be in the office, the more time they can spend out on the streets. Deputy chief constable Jane Sawyers is taking up the role of interim chief constable at Staffordshire while a new recruitment process takes place.

Mr Cunningham's new job is initially for five years at an annual salary of up to £185,971. He said: "It's been a massive privilege and honour to head up an operational police force. I'm very proud of what the force has achieved.

"I feel excited about my new role and I would like to think I'm leaving behind a motivated, committed team of people who are focussed on protecting the public.

"I leave Staffordshire Police very proud of the men and women who keep people safe and reassured."

Hall visit enjoyed by members

Landor Society

MEMBERS were welcomed by Cosy and Charlie Bagot Jewitt in July for a visit around Blithfield Hall.

The evening commenced with a walk around the Church of St Leonards which dates back to the Norman conquest. It contains various Bagot family tombs together with an original helmet. There are lovely stained glass windows, a wooden ceiling with gold bosses, and a Minton tiled floor.

The church is adjacent to the orangery of Blithfield Hall and Cosy explained that this is in the process of renovation. Members learned about the history of the Bagot Goat, the head of which forms the family crest.

The goats are thought to have been brought to England by returning Crusaders and subsequently presented to Sir John Bagot by King Richard II in appreciation of the good hunting he enjoyed at Bagot's Park.

The Great Staircase dates from the reign of Charles I and is carved in a luxurious style from oak grown on the Blithfield estate.

The Great Hall boasts elaborate plasterwork carried out in 1822 but Cosy pointed out that the original oak-beamed roof still exists above the plaster ceiling and it is possible to crawl between the two.

There is so much of interest to see at Blithfield making the visit a most enjoyable one. To conclude, members were served in the Great Hall with tea and delicious cake.

Aloe Vera benefits are demonstrated

CHAIRMAN Pat Stanley welcomed everyone to the July luncheon meeting at the Barns Restuarant and gave a special welcome to guest speaker Alison Taylor.

Mrs Stanley called for a minute's silence in memory of Pauline Campbell. Angela Reid said Grace after which the ladies enjoyed their luncheon.

After the Loyal Toast Mrs Stanley welcomed Mrs Taylor who game a most interesting talk and demonstration on the healing benefits of Aloe Vera. The ladies were invited to sample the various creams and serums.

Audrey Stamford gave the vote of thanks for a most enjoyable demonstration.

Cannock Chase Ladies Probus Club

A short meeting followed during which Pat Elwell, membership secretary, informed the ladies about Margaret Millar's recent illness.Cards would be sent from the club to Margaret.

Mrs Stanley thanked everyone for attending and wished them a safe journey home.

Cannock Chase Ladies' Probus Club is for retired, professional business ladies and meets on the last Thursday of each month at The Barns at noon. Enquiries to secretary Norma Hutchinson on 01543 505183.

Lake District walk fundraiser

A SUM of £100 was raised for Kidney Research at the July guild meeting.

Ladies enjoyed a lovely cream tea and a mini summer fair fundraiser.

There was a craft table, book, guess the weight of a cake, how many sweets in the jar, bottle, cards, white elephant, jigsaws and jewellery stalls. Shirley did a sponsored walk in the Lake District and the money raised will be added to send to Kidney Research.

The guild is looking forward to the August meeting and knowing all about the Ifakara Baking Project.

Hednesford 'A' TWG

The luncheon club met at the Wolseley Arms, Little Haywood.

Several members went on to the Lock House for coffee and others visited the nearby garden centre.

Meetings are held the second Monday of each month at 2pm at St Peter's Church Hall, Hednesford.

Comedy night held to mark victim's birthday

A CHARITY gig will be held to mark the birthday of a Brownhills man killed in a hit-and-run – as a fund in his memory has reaches almost £2,000.

A comedy show by emerging Black County comedian Jonny Cole is being held in aid of the brain injury charity Headway. It has been organised by the family of 24-year-old Jamey Coleman, who would have celebrated his birthday next month.

He was knocked down on the A5 Watling Street in Brownhills in March while on his way back from the nearby White Horse pub.

The gig will take place at the Anchor Inn, Chester Road, on September 19 from 9pm. Tickets are £5 and will be available from the pub.

Jamey Coleman, of Brownhills

Charity gig – comedian Jonny Cole

St John's Church, Walsall Wood, where mourners gathered for Jamey's funeral

Fitting

Jamey's sister Simone has helped to organise the event said it would be a fitting event for Jamey.

"He was always at the Anchor and he loved comedians. I am amazed the amount we have raised so far in such a short period of time. Everyone has helped, friends, the community and families.

"Everyone seems to have come together to help us."

A page has been set up on the JustGiving website in Jamey's honour and £1,918 has already been raised.

The aim is to raise £10,000 for Headway, as even if Jamey had survived he would have needed the charity's support.

Following the crash on March 30, friends rushed back to the pub to raise the alarm, while others tried to help Jamey as he lay at the roadside.

The former Brownhills Community School pupil, who worked at Cannock Chemicals, was rushed to the head trauma unit at the Queen Elizabeth Hospital in Birmingham but later died.

Around 300 people attended his funeral at St John's Church in Walsall Wood on April 15.

In a tribute on the www.justgiving.com/Jamey-Coleman/ page Simone said: "My brother Jamey, nicknamed Jay-c, was a 24-year-old lad who lived for his mates, there was never a dull moment when Jamey was around.

"He was a kind hearted young man, always up for a laugh, always had a cheeky smile on his face.

"He would have done anything for anyone. He was a big fan of his music especially hardcore."

Quiz buff earns place in the record books

QUIZ show fan David St John is Britain's most prolific TV quiz show contestant and now he has the certificate to prove it.

The trivia-mad 64-year-old from Cannock has racked up 30 appearances on game shows including Fifteen to One, Eggheads, The Chase and The Weakest Link and has now been awarded a place in the Guinness Book of Records.

He is also featuring in the Sunday night programme called Come On Down! The Game Show Story on ITV, which looks at the history of British television quiz shows.

Mr St John said: "A couple of months ago ITV got in touch with me and said they would like me to do a skit with Bradley Walsh for a new documentary about quiz shows.

"I went to Manchester to film the short piece. Bradley was great fun."

As a contestat on Star Quality in 1990

David on Chain Letters in 1987

Eggheads

Mr St John's love affair with game shows began in 1982 when he appeared on Sale of the Century.

He stormed to victory and won two motorcycles before going on to face Daphne Fowler, now known as a member of the Eggheads' team on BBC2, in an Australian version of the show.

Over the years he has won cash prizes for coming top of the scoreboard on shows such as Winner Takes All and Chain Letters in 1987, Star Quality in 1990, No Win No Fee in 2002 and Face the Clock in 2013.

But Mr St John says his biggest achievement is securing a place in the Guinness Book of Records. Last week he was crowned Britain's Most Prolific TV Quiz Show Contestant and now holds the record for the Most TV Quiz Appearances.

David went to Australia for Sale of the Century

He said: "In January I wrote to the Guinness Book of Records and I sent them clips and footage to prove that I had been on 30 shows. They confirmed that my name will be in the book which I find really funny because I am not a professional quizzer or an egghead, I just do it for fun.

"When I first started taking part in quiz shows I never knew it would lead to this. I can't wait to receive my certificate"

Mr St John is currently writing about his experiences as a contestant, which he hopes to release on Kindle books. It gives readers advice on how to apply for shows and dealing with pressure under the spotlight.

There are also chapters about the 30 game shows he has appeared on.

Mr St John added: "I am not an expert by any means I think it all comes down to luck. I have auditioned to be a contestant on Mastermind numerous times."

Gearing up to restore buses to former glory

FOR years they had been left to rot in an old barn hundreds of miles away, but now a pair of vintage buses manufactured in the Black Country have returned home to be restored to their former glory.

The coaches came off the production line at the Guy Motors Ltd factory off Park Lane in Fallings Park, Wolverhampton in 1959 and were bought by Heath Hayes firm Harper Brothers to carry passengers on day trips to the coast.

But after 11 years of service they were sold to a scout group in Northern Ireland in 1971 and re-deployed to ship youngsters from their headquarters in Limerick to scout camps around the country.

The two vintage buses which are now due to be restored

Their polished wooden interiors now look a bit worse for wear

Stranded

Three years ago it emerged the 52-seat coaches were stranded in a barn on the outskirts of Dublin in dreadful condition, their once gleaming distinctive green and yellow paintwork peeled away and tarnished by rust, polished wooden interiors now sullied and engines dead to the world.

But thanks to the generosity of their former owner and an unnamed benefactor the buses are back on home soil, having arrived at the Aston Manor Road Transport Museum (AMRTM) in Aldridge, after being loaded onto large flat-bed lorries and transported via ferry across the Irish Sea.

It is believed there are only nine coaches in existence featuring the Guy Motors chassis coupled with bodywork produced by Loughborough firm Willowbrook Ltd. They are now set to undergo a refurbishment project manned by a crew of up to 25 volunteers, with bosses at the museum hoping to have both vehicles in full operational order by 2017. Martin Fisher, chairman of the AMRTM, said he first found out about the buses in 2011, but doubted the museum would ever be able to afford the high cost of buying them and funding their transportation back to the Midlands. It is expected the cost of refurbishing could be £60,000.

"The owner in Ireland originally planned to use them as part of his novelty wedding business but nothing came to pass, so he advertised them for sale," he said. "They were on the market for a while but no-one bought them. We wanted to bring them here but there was no way we could afford it at the time."

It looked like the project would never get off the ground, but then the owner donated them to the AMRTM - on the proviso that the museum could stump up transport costs to bring them back to the UK.

A mystery donor came forward. Mr Fisher added: "It cost more than £3,000 to get them here and there's no way we could have done that without the donation. The benefactor has asked to remain anonymous but we are extremely grateful."

Have you Hurd about the deer?

This picture of deer was taken by Gail Hurd after she heard a commotion driving drivng across Cannock Chase

THEY could be lovers kissing, partners dancing, or rivals fighting.

This intriguing picture was taken by photographer Gail Hurd, aged 39, as she drove through Cannock Chase on her way home in Cannock – and it could land her a £100 prize.

She said she heard a commotion and saw two deer scrapping. "I saw these two deer pop up are start scrapping so I pulled over and started reeling off pictures. It was a rather unusual thing to see," she said

Mrs Hurd, of Wolverhampton Road, Cannock, has just set up her own photography business with her own small studio.

The Chase is home to one of the largest herds of deer in the UK, with around 800 to 1000 fallow deer and 80 to 100 red deer. A census of deer last year found that numbers were rising.

The Chase covers 26 sq miles (67 sq km) and is the smallest area to be designated as an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty in mainland Britain.

The £100 is up for grabs each month as The Chronicle's sister paper Express & Star showcases the best photography in the region via Star Witness.

So, whether you're a complete novice armed with just a smartphone, a traditionalist armed with a Brownie or a pro snapping away on the latest Nikon, this is your chance to get your pictures seen.

It is also a chance to get your snaps seen by thousands of readers.

Miners sorting coal at a pit on Cannock Chase

Jimmy Andrews cleans beams at Rawnsley in 1982

Pit pony Bob retired from Cannock Wood Colliery in 1969

Chase was gunner be the centre of country's armoury industry

FOOTBALL club Arsenal took its name from the arms manufacturing plant in Woolwich, south east London.

Yet only years before its founding in 1883 it was seriously proposed that the large-scale production of arms be moved from the capital to Cannock Chase.

There were compelling arguments. Woolwich was vulnerable to enemy attack and invasion, the transportation of raw materials was expensive, wages were costly and there were very limited facilities for the trial of guns because of the dense population and the dampness of the locality.

By contrast, Cannock Chase seemed an outstanding location. It was an immense moor of 25,000 acres that was 100 miles inland and in the middle of England. As such it offered more security for a national arsenal.

The site was cheap, water was abundant, coal was below the ground and iron ore was nearby. Furthermore, railways and canals cut through the Chase at several points, and the South Staffordshire Line ran through its centre, thus easily connecting it to all parts of the kingdom.

MEMORY LANE

By Professor Carl Chinn

And the villages that dotted the district could readily be expanded to provide housing for the mechanics and labourers who would work there.

The idea was never realised as the interests of Woolwich were too powerful and because Cannock Chase was transformed into one of the greatest mining centres in England.

Coal became king on the Chase. As new mines were sunk, the name of Cannock – taken from the Welsh cnwc or Old English cnocc, for hill or hillock – remained pre-eminent.

Most authorities assert that the high ground that led to this remarkable place name was Shoal Hill. But in his authoritative dictionary of the Place Names of Staffordshire, David Horovitz points out that such a high place cannot be a deemed as a hillock.

Instead he feels that Cannock is named after the slight hill of gravelly soil upon which the town was sited from at least the later Middle Ages.

Furnaces

Originally the inhabitants were part of the huge royal Forest of Cannock, which stretched from close to Stafford to near Walsall. It is believed this was as great as 24,000 acres at the time of the Domesday Book in 1086. Within it were a number of hays (enclosures) for the management of deer, among them Cheslyn Hay.

Coal was mined in a small way from as far back as 1298, while blast furnaces were in use on the Chase from the later 16th century.

Thomas, the third Lord Paget of Beaudesert, developed large-scale works that included mines of ironstone, two furnaces, two forges, and a handful of cottages for his workmen. But for all these examples of industrialism, as late as 1848, only 2,852 people lived on the 20,000 acres of Cannock Chase.

Researcher Frederick Hackwood says that from the mid-19th century 'the vast heathery waste of Cannock gave way to the busy almost populous mining region of which it mainly consists today'.

According to him, 'the pioneers whose first sinkings led to the establishment of the present large collieries on the Chase were Mr William Harrison and the late John Robinson McClean MP, who began operations in 1848'.

The rapid expansion of mining on the Chase also led to the consequent rise in population.

In 1872, Chasetown was described as 'deriving its existence from the coalfield' and as such was remarkable for its rapid growth. As for Hednesford it was stated that this was 'an entirely new town'.

A COMPETITION has been launched to find the best photo of woodland in Staffordshire. The Woodland Trust contest is open to all ages and closes on September 30.

Organisers are looking for entries that 'capture the essence of what makes our trees, woods and countryside so unique'. Beccy Speight, Woodland Trust chief executive, said: "Our trees, woods and countryside have provided inspiration for many iconic scenes and we want people to get out and create one of their own this summer."

MP loves being fly on the wall at No 10

SOME people call it a bear pit while others dub it a national disgrace.

But South Staffordshire Conservative MP Gavin Williamson sees Prime Minister's Question Time (PMQs) as a vital part of the country's political system.

The 38-year-old father-of-two spends hours coaching David Cameron for the verbal sparing match before watching it from the seat directly behind the PM.

Gavin Williamson MP

As the Prime Minister's Parliamentary Private Secretary, Mr Williamson spends more time with Mr Cameron than almost anybody else in Westminster.

He is a member of the inner circle that discusses policy and tactics twice a week as well as the team that meets early each week to decide what they think Labour leader Ed Miliband will ask on a Wednesday.

Topics

Mr Williamson sits down again with Mr Cameron on Tuesday afternoon to discuss the topics the PM is likely to face. Part of Wednesday morning is spent with the PM practising answers to the predicted posers.

The MP said: "I spend two or three hours every week being really rude to the Prime Minster asking him the most obnoxious questions. How many people would like to do that?

"When you think you have come up with a real crippler of a question that will catch him out he knocks you for six."

The former North Yorkshire Country Councillor who was managing director of a pottery firm before being elected to Westminster, added: "We normally guess the rough theme that Ed Miliband will go on about. An immense amount of effort is put into preparing for PMQs.

"I love it. It's torture and he spends hours preparing for it because it is so easy to slip up. PMQs is the chance to hold the government to account."

Mr Williamson, who was appointed to the post last October, added: "I give him the best and most honest advice that I can.

"My job is to speak truth unto power. If I never get another appointment I believe that I will have had one of the best roles in Westminster.

"Five years ago I did not expect to be an MP let alone the private secretary to the PM. I am a fly on the wall of No 10. It is a fascinating place to be."

More than 1,000 users have their say on libraries

MORE than 1,000 people have had their say on the future of Staffordshire's library service.

Since a consultation began last month, users have responded to the county council's consultation either online, by post or at face-to-face sessions taking place across the county.

Under plans, volunteers could run 24 of the county's venues, which bosses say would save the council £1.3 million over the course of three years.

Jobs would be put at risk, but the council insists that there are no plans to close buildings and wants to meet a 'shifting demand and safeguard the service for the future'.

Councillor Mike Lawrence, cabinet member for communities and localism, said: "The fact that we have had over 1,000 responses in the first three weeks of consultation has been extremely encouraging and I am sure we will receive many more over the course of this consultation.

"People understand that ensuring a library service for the future means that change is needed and I am pleased that so many local people are taking a very active interest in their local libraries and giving us their views on our proposals."

Work to start on signal box classroom conversion

A HISTORIC railway signal box will be transformed into a classroom by college students.

By Charlotte Lilley

The Hednesford No 1 signal box has been moved from Hednesford Park and will be restored by construction students from South Staffordshire College before being put back as a community hub.

The group, aged 16 to 19, will be painting, decorating, repairing and guttering the box, as well as removing its windows and replacing them with wooden frames.

The work will be undertaken in partnership with Cannock Chase Council, the Friends of Hednesford Park and local residents.

The work is due to start in September and teacher David Dew will oversee the restoration.

Planting

The project is part of a multi-million pound revamp at the park which will be carried out at the site following the award of a £2.2million Heritage Lottery Fund grant in December 2012.

New tennis courts have been installed and other areas will be revamped, including new and relocated play areas and outdoor gym, extensive planting, increased parking and more.

New footpaths are also being created and the railings around the park's war memorial will also be repaired. Work to extend the pavilion at the site to two-storeys, featuring a community room, balcony and ground floor café, will start in the next few months and about 30 extra spaces are being added at the car park.

The entire project will be finished within 18 months to two years.

The signal box, which dates back to the 1800s, was moved to the park from part of the Chase Line near Hednesford Station.

It will be the base for activities within the park, which will be led by the council's community and education officer.

Anyone interested in finding out more about the activities at Hednesford Park, as well as volunteering opportunities, should call Lynn Evans on 07855 099353.

Sapper Clive Smith is in training for the hand cycling events at the Invictus Games for wounded and sick soldiers

Fun in the park will be a knockout

HEDNESFORD Park is to be transformed in to a sports arena with a difference this summer.

The Friends of Hednesford Park will host their annual It's a Knockout-style event for the third year running on Saturday (August 16) from 11am

Anyone over the age of five is invited to join in. Teams must be made up of six people and admission is free.

Chairman Lynn Evans said: "It is our third consecutive year and our most successful event in our calendar of community events.

"There will be something for everyone with a variety of stalls and a fair as well as bouncy castles, craft stalls, donkey rides and face painting so I hope a lot of people will come along."

For details visit www.friendsofhednesfordpark.org.uk

Art on show at museum

ARTISTS are being encouraged to submit their work for a free Open Art Exhibition in Hednesford. It is being housed at the Museum of Cannock Chase, in Valley Road with a theme of Inspired by the Galleries.

Work must be submitted between August 15 and 18. The exhibition will run from August 23 to October17. For an entry form, call 01543 877666 or e-mail museumofcannockchase@wlct.org

Injured war hero set sights on service games

HE lost both his legs in a roadside explosion while serving in Afghanistan but that has not put a stop to Sapper Clive Smith's ambitions.

The 28-year-old, from Haednesford, is in training for the inaugural Invictius Games for injured and sick servicemen and women. The event is backed by Prince Harry.

More than 400 competitors representing 14 nations will take part in the Games at the Queen Elizabeth Olympic Park in London next month. Sapper Smith, is competing for a place in the England cycling time trials squad.

He said: "It would be great to be chosen. Cycling has become a focus for me since coming out of the army in March. It's a way of keeping fit which is important for my physical health but it's also good mentally."

The former Chase High School student is training four days a week on the roads around his father's home and in the gym.

He said: "I've kept my post-injury goals fairly short-term. This is what I've been concentrating on and I've been enjoying it. Help For Heroes have given me a coach to help me keep on top of my training, so I'm keeping my fingers crossed it will all have been worth it."

He will find out this week.

Store just champion for charity

THE food store and post office in Hednesford has raised the most money over the past year for The Midcounties Co-operative charity partner.

Figures revealed it pulled in £3,000 thanks to generous donations from its members and customers for the society's chosen charity partner Teenage Cancer Trust.

Colleagues from the food store held a series of cake sales and a family fun day with face painting and a quiz to help raise money.

The post office has also contributed to the fundraising activity by donning fancy dress.

Maxine Sharman, head of community engagement at The Midcounties Co-operative, said: "SColleagues, members and customers at the Hednesford food store and post office have really worked hard to raise money for Teenage Cancer Trust."

Have say on policy plea

RESIDENTS in Hednesford could be given a greater say on planning matters. The town council has applied to Cannock Chase for land within the town boundary to be designated a Neighbourhood Area to give more influence on decisions and development.

Write to Planning Policy, Cannock Chase Council, Civic Centre, Beecroft Road, Cannock, or email planningpolicy@cannockchasedc.gov.uk by September 14 if you are in favour.

Legend's date will have fans dancing in street

MOTOWN legend Martha Reeves will have fans Dancing In the Street when she appears in Cannock next month.

Now aged 73, the soul star shows no signs of slowing down, and performs at the Prince of Wales Centre in Church Street, on Friday September 26. The 20-date UK tour kicks off at the Jam House, in Birmingham, and follows a performance at the recent Wickerman festival in Stoke-on-Trent.

"People have spoken to me about retirement or about giving it up and I can't ever think why anyone would suggest that," she told The Chronicle.

"I love performing and I love singing and I'll do it until I drop."

It's now 50 years since one of her biggest hits, Dancing In the Street charted.

The tune was also voted number four in a poll of the nation's favourite Motown song and Martha will celebrate the golden anniversary of its release with dates in 72 cities.

Motown legend Martha Reeves, who performs in Cannock next month

Signature

And the energy she exudes on stage doesn't stop once she's away from it as she winds down by playing golf, designing costumes and taking care of her grandchildren.

Martha and the Vandellas are also as well known for the hit recordings Nowhere to Run and Jimmy Mack. But it is (Love Is Like A) Heatwave that the singer would profess to be the group's main claim to fame, their signature tune and one that defined the Motown sound.

These days, sisters Lois, with whom Martha has performed since 1968, and Delphine make up Martha's backing band. But she says she is ready to take to the stage at any time if given the nod. She does have 58 years in the business, after all.

Only hours before her Chronicle interview she had been exercising her vocals – and added: "I've been keeping off the cigarettes and the alcohol so that I'm ready for the call to perform and I can bring that energy to the stage."

Fans in Cannock can expect to hear the authentic Motown sound thanks to a selection of hand-picked musicians. And they won't just be treated to the big hits as Martha also belt out numbers requested by the audience.

Tickets for the Prince of Wales concert, which starts at 7.30pm, are £22.50. Call the box office on 01543 578762.

Management plan for Cannock Chase gets the seal of approval

Volunteers and Cannock Chase AONB members with the five-year management plan

THE Secretary of State has given his seal of approval to the Cannock Chase Area of Natural Beauty's management plan.

The five-year plan sets out how the Cannock Chase Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty will be managed from now until 2019. It was launched by the Cannock Chase AONB Partnership at a barbecue for its volunteers.

Lord de Mauley, Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Natural Environment and Science, Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs, said: "This management plan also makes the important connection between people and nature.

"I am pleased that local communities have been central to the development of the plan, and will be at the heart of its delivery.

"From volunteers on nature conservation projects, to businesses working to promote sustainable tourism, it's great to hear of the enthusiasm and commitment of the local people who hold their AONBs so dear."

Councillor Bob McCardle, chairman of the Cannock Chase AONB joint committee, said: "The period of this management plan will take in the 60th anniversary of the designation of our AONB.

Thrive

"All around, times, finances and support are changing but the AONB's survival and enduring benefits to all are what makes the designation so important.

"The AONB will continue to thrive because people mix with this special landscape to create a very strong sense of place. I look forward to seeing this Management Plan delivered to the highest levels of quality."

Ruth Hytch, AONB officer, said: "We're so grateful to everyone that gave us their viewson our management plan.

"We'd especially like to thank our team of volunteers that helped us to gather views and take photographs to showcase beautiful Cannock Chase AONB."

The management plan is available to download at www.cannock-chase.co.uk/Cannock_Chase_AONB_Management_Plan_2014-19/ with reference copies also available from the AONB offices at the Civic Centre, Stafford.

Service honours top Freemasonry figure

A GRAVE re-dedication ceremony was held to honour a former leading figure in the Midland Freemasons who was one of only a few to have had a lodge named after him.

Worshipful Brother Colonel George Walton Walker, who was initiated into Freemasonry in 1877, was buried at All Saints Church, West Bromwich, after he died in 1918, aged 68.

He was initiated into the Lodge of Honour in Wolverhampton and rose to become the deputy provincial grand master of the Masonic Province of Staffordshire, gaining similar high ranks with other masonic orders.

His death happened shortly after the Walton Walker Lodge, in Edward Street, was named after him.

It was consecrated in May 1918 and is a meeting place for Freemasons.

Rev Andrew Smith leads the re-dedication service

Gathered

The lodge recently paid £1,400 to have Colonel Walker's grave refurbished after it fell into disrepair and the eight-week scheme involved repairing the base, cross and cleaning the stones.

Around 30 Freemasons gathered at the church for a short commemoration service before the re-dedication ceremony, both of which were carried out by The Rev Andrew Smith.

Worshipful Brother Alan Siddall, a past provincial junior grand warden at Walton Walker Lodge, said it had been a fitting honour to his good work.

The 80-year-old, of Finchfield, Wolverhampton, said: "As he was our founder and we are nearing our centenary, we felt the best way to honour him was to have his grave refurbished so he's not forgotten for what he did."

Wolverhampton-born Colonel Walker, a former pupil of Brewood Grammar School, had also been a chairman of the board at Wolverhampton Wanderers FC.

He became registrar of West Bromwich County Court in 1904 and subsequently High Bailiff. He commanded the 3rd Battalion South Staffordshire Volunteers and was allowed to retain the honorary rank of colonel on retirement. Colonel Walker was also chairman of the board at West Bromwich District Hospital and a governor of The Royal Orphanage in Wolverhampton. He was president of the Staffordshire Masonic Charitable Association from 1913-1915 and was one of a handful of Freemasons to have had a lodge named after them while still alive.

The masonic jewels he earned carrying out his duties were also displayed during the church service.

Business benefits from tax cut, says MP

Nearly 60,000 businesses have benefited from a new scheme reducing National Insurance costs, an MP has said.

Cannock Chase MP Aidan Burley said 59,000 businesses in the West Midlands have taken advantage of Employment Allowance, which reduces the cost to businesses of employing people. The allowance takes up to £2,000 off the National Insurance bill of every employer and is open to businesses, charities and community amateur sports clubs.

Mr Burley said it meant a business could hire someone on £22,400 a year, or four people working full-time on the minimum wage, without paying any employer national insurance. He said: "This makes it easier for businesses across Cannock Chase to take on new people with 59,000 businesses in the West Midlands already benefitting.

"We need to continue working through our plan, backing businesses in Cannock Chase to create jobs for local people, with the regular pay packet."

Hospital will take more transferred outpatients

MORE than 20,000 outpatient cases a year will move from New Cross Hospital to Cannock as part of plans to relocate services.

Health chiefs in Wolverhampton will soon take over the running of Cannock Chase Hospital, with patients being ferried between the sites on free shuttle buses.

The plan forms part of the dissolution of Mid-Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust.

Bosses had said that 10,000 inpatient cases will switch from New Cross as part of the plans – around 20 per cent of inpatient activity at the Wednesfield hospital.

But it has now emerged five per cent of its outpatient cases, such as minor surgery, where patients do not need an overnight stay for what are often common procedures, will also move to Cannock.

Chief executive of the Royal Wolverhampton NHS Trust, David Loughton, is overseeing the plans.

In a joint statement with Dr Helen Hibbs, from Wolverhampton Clinical Commissioning, he said: "The number of patients needing urgent or emergency care treatment at New Cross Hospital is continuing to grow.

"This means many people are occupying beds that should have been used for planned operations or treatment.

"As a result, more an more planned operations are being cancelled, often at the last minute.

"We are proposing to protect planned care from the pressures of emergency care by increasing this service at Cannock Chase Hospital.

"This means that more planning operations and treatment could be carried out at Cannock Chase Hospital, whilst New Cross Hospital would become a centre of excellence for emergency and complex care."

Facilities at Cannock, including operating theatres,.

The White House gardener

Jonathan Taylor at the White House

FORMER horticultural students from Penkridge are making their mark across the country and further afield.

One of them is Jonathan Taylor, who is now employed at the grounds of the Presidential White House in Washington DC.

He studied for his National Diploma Horticulture at Rodbaston Campus, South Staffordshire College, from 2008 to 2010.

It has made considerable investment in the Rodbaston site over the five years since South Staffordshire College was formed as the result of a merger.

Horticulture students have gained star jobs and in some cases starting up their own businesses.

Jake Armstrong-Front, from Pelsall, works in the grounds of the Sandringham Estate, the Norfolk retreat of The Queen.

As a second year student on the National Diploma Horticulture course at Rodbaston, Jake developed a keen interest in historical gardens and applied for a Historic and Botanic Garden Bursary Scheme funded by the Heritage Lottery Fund and supported by the Royal Horticulture Society.

Double delight with music duos

ALBUM REVIEWS

GOOD music is coming at the double this summer with three female duos producing contrasting but well-accomplished albums.

The relocation of Alabama siblings The Pierces to California has paid dividends with a classic West Coast feel to their new album Creation. If breakthrough You & I was sunshine pop then Creation introduces a little melancholy shadow into their harmonious sound. Songs like Believe In Me and Honest Man could appeal to Fleetwood Mac fans, whilst Must Be Something and the gorgeous Elements even channel some Abba spirit. Catch Allison and Catherine at Birmingham Glee Club on September 24.

Feisty Glaswegians Stina Tweedale (vocals/guitar) and Shona McVicar (drums) deliver punky power pop with plenty of 'don't mess with us' attitude on their swaggering eponymous debut Honeyblood. Killer Bangs delivers a sugar rush whilst I'd Rather Be Anywhere But Here shows their bittersweet side. They should raise the roof at the Hare and Hounds in Kings Heath on September 26.

Ward Thomas sound like the latest rising stars from Nashville but these 20-year-old twins are from Hampshire. Singers and songwriters Lizzy and Catherine impress with the honky tonk opener Push For The Stride and contemporary country toe-tappers on their debut From Where We Stand. Ward Thomas play Birmingham Glee with The Shires on November 4.

Irish singer/songwriter Sinead O'Connor marks 30 years making music with I'm Not Bossy, I'm The Boss, her most accessible and rocking album for many years. She's apparently rejuvenated on the cover (thanks to a wig and figure-hugging rubber) but this is special because of the blend of vulnerability and maturity in her remarkably emotive voice. She hits her righteously strident stride on Take Me To Church and Streetcars makes a tender finale.

It's been a long wait for La Roux's second album, five years in fact, but Elly Jackson has finally delivered an excellent blend of disco and synth pop that surpasses her 1980s obsessed debut. Trouble In Paradise is short at nine tracks in just over 40 minutes, but boasts songs that do that deja vu familiarity trick, including Chic-like Uptight Downtown and Blondie flavoured Kiss And Not Tell. Catch her at The Institute in Digbeth on November 8.

Welsh pop maverick and sometime genius Gruff Rhys, formerly of Super Furry Animals, blends melancholy pop and rollicking rockabilly on American Interior, an eccentric concept album about the quest for a Welsh speaking Native American tribe. Be enlightened when he plays Birmingham Glee Club on September 15.

Charlie Simpson finally escapes the shadow of his band Busted (he refused to join McBusted) with folk-tinted pop rock album Long Road Home which is a real grower with its memorable title track and the Mumford-like Comets.

International hit Budapest has catapulted George Ezra, a guitar-slinging singer/songwriter from Hertford with a smoky deep voice that belies his youth (he's 21), to the upper reaches of the album charts with his debut album Wanted On Voyage. He will be in concert at The Institute in Digbeth on October 25.

Escape to the 1950s exotica of Les Baxter on the Cherry Red reissue of his kitsch orchestral tunes inspired by tropical islands and the mysterious east. It features original lounge classic Quiet Village plus lots of bonus material. Pour yourself a Mai Tai and enjoy.

Joan Collins

TV's Nastiest Villains with Joan Collins (Channel 5, 9pm)

If the old adage 'good guys finish last' is true, prepare to meet the winners. Yes, it's another of those cheap and cheerful countdown shows with some of the world's great small screen bad guys and girls. There's no surprise to find Channel 5 favourites Stefan Dennis and Linda Gray here giving their opinion on the likes of Neighbours' love to hate villain Paul Robinson, and much-missed Dallas bad guy JR Hagman (aka Larry Hagman). Your hostess is Joan Collins, who knew just how to get the blood boiling as Alexis Carrington in Dynasty. Other femme fatales featured are Tanya Turner of Footballers' Wives and EastEnders' Janine Butcher, and there's also the anti-hero who created perfect screen chemistry in Breaking Bad, Walter White.

The Great War: The People's Story
(ITV, 9pm)
A century after the conflict began, there are no British First World War soldiers left to share their experiences with us, but that doesn't mean their stories can't still be told in their own words. If you missed the first episode, this series uses the letters and diaries of people who lived through the Great War. This second episode also provides a fascinating insight into medical history, as it explores the experiences of Reg Evans (Daniel Mays), who underwent pioneering plastic surgery after being shot in the face. If that sounds surprisingly modern for the First World War, we're also about to learn that celebrity chefs aren't an entirely new phenomenon, as we hear excerpts from the diaries of fashionable restaurateur Hallie Mills (Alison Steadman).

BBC1

8.00 The Mill. William is forced to lower wages as the cotton industry feels the impact of the recession, but the news doesn't go down well with Daniel, who believes the workers should withdraw their labour. Preparing for the worst, the boss mobilises troops in the area and appoints John to lead a new band of special constables. Esther's views on strike action change when the consequences of the cuts put her son Billy's life in danger and she joins Daniel at the forefront of the protest. However, when tensions escalate, William arms his men with clubs and sticks. Elsewhere, as Hannah's health declines, she receives a parcel from the plantation in Dominica and is horrified by its contents.

9.00 Richard III: The New Evidence. Since the discovery of Richard III's remains under a car park in Leicester, scientists have been subjecting the 15th-century English king's skeleton to intense scrutiny and analysis, allowing them to reassemble his life in detail. Using the latest techniques, experts have been able to define the extent to which his spinal deformity would have affected his ability to be the warrior famed for leading the charge at the Battle of Bosworth. They have also pieced together his diet and revealed his lifestyle in his final years, with surprising results.

FILM CHOICES

MONDAY

Imaginary Friend, Channel 5, 3.15pm

A woman experiences visions of her childhood imaginary friend, whom she created for emotional support while being abused by her father. Fearing she is losing her mind, she takes drastic measures to rid herself of the hallucinations, but begins to suspect they are a warning about a threat to her life posed by her own husband. Thriller, starring Lacey Chabert. (2012)

TUESDAY

Audrey's Rain, Channel 5, 3.15pm

An embittered woman who has given up all her own dreams for the sake of her younger siblings finds herself having to bear even more responsibility when her sister commits suicide and leaves her to raise two children. However, the return of a lost love rekindles her sense of hope. Drama, starring Jean Smart. (2003)

Precious, Friday, BBC2, 11.05pm

WEDNESDAY

Irresistible, BBC1, 11.50pm

Melbourne housewife Sophie becomes increasingly suspicious of her husband's beautiful female colleague Mara. She is convinced the woman is a danger to her marriage and family, but the increasingly nerve-racked Sophie finds no one will believe her. Doubting her own sanity, she takes drastic action and puts her life in peril. Thriller, starring Susan Sarandon. (2006)

THURSDAY

Paycheck, BBC1, 11.35pm

An engineer carries out a top-secret job on the understanding that his knowledge of the task will be erased from his mind afterwards to protect his employer's intellectual property. However, waking after the memory-wiping procedure, he is shocked to learn he had somehow agreed to waive the huge payment due to him – and is wanted for a murder he does not remember committing. Thriller, starring Ben Affleck. (2003)

FRIDAY

Precious, BBC2, 11.05pm

Overweight and illiterate Harlem teenager Precious has endured years of abuse at the hands of her parents. When it is discovered she is pregnant for the second time by her father, Precious is removed from her school and sent to a new institution, where she encounters a kindly teacher who inspires her to try to turn her life around. Drama, starring Gabourey Sidibe. (2009)

PICK OF THE WEEK

Looking back on a match to remember

It hardly seems like two minutes since the last one finished, but last Saturday, the new Premier League season kicked off.

While non-football fans moaned and whined about how the sport tends to take over TV and chats around the watercooler at work, fans were beside themselves with glee – especially as excitement in the domestic leagues this year may help them forget the nightmare that was England's World Cup campaign in Brazil.

But there's another reason to celebrate the return of top-flight football, and that's because it coincides with the 50th anniversary of Match of the Day.

Back in 1964, when the first edition aired, Kenneth Wolstenholme (later to find fame with his "they think it's all over, it is now" moment during the 1966 World Cup final at Wembley) commentated on highlights from just one game – a First Division encounter between Liverpool and Arsenal, which the Anfield side won 3-2.

Only 20,000 people tuned in, just half the number of spectators who were at the ground; that might sound like next to nothing, but at the time, few people could receive new channel BBC Two.

Unlike nowadays when low ratings ensure a show will be axed early, the Beeb stuck with its sporting baby, and before long, it became an iconic show that remains must-see viewing for football fans everywhere.

This special programme looks back at MOTD's history, picking up on memorable moments, from match highlights to the way in which it covered the Hillsborough disaster with great dignity as events unfolded.

Regular viewers such as Alan Sugar, Sue Johnston and Russell Brand discuss their love of the show, and Barry Stoller talks for the first time about composing the famous theme tune.

Also discussing the programme are John Motson, Wayne Rooney, Thierry Henry, Ryan Giggs and the recently retired Alan Hansen.

Over the years, the likes of David Coleman, Jimmy Hill and Des Lynam have hosted the programme; it's Gary Lineker who sits in the hotseat these days. He has every reason to be cheerful, because his beloved Leicester City are back in the top echelons – although he's anything but optimistic.

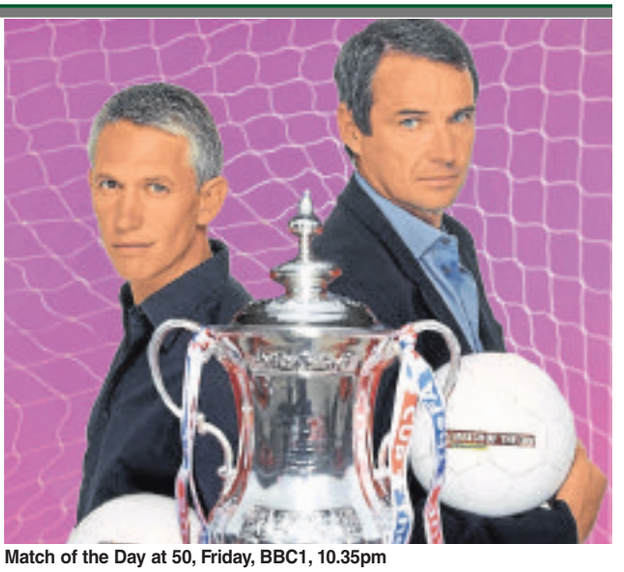
"I'm not the world's most confident fan," he grimaces. "I should be – I should believe in them more than I do."

Does he ever wish he was back out on the pitch?

"Not really. There are aspects of football that can be quite tiresome – being treated like a kid, being shouted at all day, being told what time to do stuff, being told what to eat, etc, etc. The one thing I do miss is scoring a big goal in an important match, and the euphoria that that brings."

Instead, Gary is happy with his day job: "I always look forward to the start of the season. Football is still hugely important to a lot of people in this country and Match of the Day is always an exciting show."

Long may it continue – here's to another 50 years, at least.



Match of the Day at 50, Friday, BBC1, 10.35pm

BEST OF THE REST

MONDAY

Long Lost Family

ITV, 9pm

When Colin Deering left home to join the Army, his mother Nellie revealed to him and his younger sister Helen that she had given birth in 1945 and put the baby up for adoption, believing he would have a better chance in life. Shortly before her death, Nellie begged Helen to find her brother and reunite the family, and this programme aims to fulfil that dying wish. Plus, the story of Stephen Haywood, who has put his life on hold until his birth mother can be a part of it. He feels unable to celebrate important occasions without her present, and in recent years his search has become more urgent due to serious health issues. Presented by Davina McCall and Nicky Campbell.

My Online Bride

Channel 4, 10pm

Internet dating is big business these days – once a rarely discussed, taboo topic, the world of online match-ups is now the first place to turn when embarking on a search for a soulmate. In fact, an estimated 15 million Brits are said to be looking for love online, and this one-off documentary follows men of all ages as they head abroad in search of a wife. Among others, we meet 46-year-old Chris who is divorced and looks after his two children, leaving little time for romance – so he's trying his luck on a Bangkok romance tour. Meanwhile, Mike is 26 and has been searching for a wife in the Ukraine, and after weeks of chatting to Tatyana on Skype, he's arranged to stay with her.

TUESDAY

Super Senses: The Secret Power of Animals

BBC2, 9pm

Biologist Patrick Aryee and physicist Helen Czerski explore the world of animal senses to reveal how they detect things beyond the limits of human perception, conducting experiments and demonstrations featuring a variety of species. They begin by investigating sight and reveal how caribou – wild reindeer of Alaska – use ultraviolet light to avoid their predators. They also discover how the dragonfly's ability to view things in slow motion allows it to make a kill, and show how a snake can see in the pitch dark without using its eyes.

WEDNESDAY

Secrets from the Asylum

ITV, 9pm

The first of two programmes in which celebrities embark on an emotional journey to discover how their ancestors coped in Victorian asylums. Hollywood hardman Ray Winstone visits Colney Hatch Asylum in north London, where his great-great-grandmother's first husband was committed in 1875. Comedian Al Murray follows in the footsteps of one of his forebears, Vanity Fair author William Makepeace Thackeray, to discover the measures he took to save his suicidal wife from the horrors of institutionalisation. Plus, actress and singer Claire Sweeney finds out how senile dementia and old-age mental health was treated in the 19th century.

Who Do You Think You Are?, Thursday, BBC1, 9pm

THURSDAY

Who Do You Think You Are?

BBC1, 9pm

Actress Tamzin Outhwaite, who is currently starring as DCI Sasha Miller in BBC One crime drama New Tricks, but is best known to audiences for her role as Melanie Owen in EastEnders, looks to learn about her Italian roots on the maternal side of her family as a result of her fond childhood memories of big meals with relatives, antipasto and energetic conversations. Her journey begins in the heart of London's East End where her great-grandfather Tony Gonella once ran a cafe. She visits the Isle of Man, Italy and finally Glasgow as she explores her ancestor's life, and also discovers more about her mother's father Remo Santi and his dad Adelmo.

The Last Leg

Channel 4, 10pm

Will Daniel Radcliffe ever escape Harry Potter? Maybe not, but he's trying his best to prove he can do things other than play the boy wizard by tackling as many varied roles on stage and screen as time allows him. Now he's making an appearance on this comedy show; those who remember him taking part in QI a few years back will know he's quick-witted, so co-hosts Adam Hills, Josh Widdicombe and Alex Brooker had better be at the top of their game. As ever, they will be taking an irreverent look at the stories that have hit the headlines during the past week while asking the all-important question 'is it OK?' For Radcliffe, in terms of career progression, the answer is yes.

A recently completed home with character

A HANDSOME two-and-a-half-storey detached home of character in Stonnall Place, Main Street, Stonnall, has been recently built to an exacting standard.

It is for sale through Marrion & Co at £775,000.

It has a portico entrance into the reception hall, drawing room, dining room, family TV room, ultra-modern kitchen and family room with a garden room off, utility, guest WC, four spacious first-floor bedrooms (each with built-in wardrobes and en suite shower room), two further attic-style bedrooms and a bathroom with separate shower cubicle.

There is a two-car garage, lin-and-out driveway with remote-control gates set behind an avenue of mature trees and pedestrian access to the rear garden.

Cactus is a vehicle that's perfect for today's living

By Ian Donaldson

Ever picked up a car park bump and cursed your luck? The brilliant new Citroen C4 Cactus might just be the car for you

As breaths of fresh air go, the Cactus is like a lungfull of West Scotland's finest in the middle of rush-hour London.

It's a car designed to fit into real-world lifestyles where you need lots of places to store bits and pieces, where touch-screens are as second nature as a second scoop of ice cream and where people always manage to open their doors into your paintwork. The Cactus is built to take life's little trials in its stride with a radical re-think.

That's why you'll find those curious and distinctive coloured panels along the sides. These 'AirBump' air-filled blocks are scratch-resistant and a bit bouncy, so errant supermarket trolleys and swinging coat zips won't leave a mark. The same material is on the boot and in a few other places too, helping to avoid any ugly and expensive body-work damage.

The Cactus is the first truly honest Citroen for years. It's a bit madcap but not so much so to be off-putting. The controls are where you'd expect them, the pedals do what they should and the wheels aren't made out of cheese. It's simply very good at the everyday biffabout thing, and there's no doubt a lot of people will be very taken by this.

Character

You don't get as much outright space as you do in, say, a Seat Toledo, but the Cactus has a far greater character garnish to go with its healthy dollop of practicality. There are door pockets aplenty and a panoramic glass roof to give a more spacious-feeling cabin, and it's fair to say there's enough rear legroom for adults – just.

A really nice touch is the 'suitcase-style' interior detailing on the door pulls and glove box. It adds a sense of travel adventure, but there's loads of room inside the glove-case to add substance to the style.

Citroen openly admits the Cactus is built to a price. That's half the point; realistic ownership costs. With that in mind it's amazing how quietly the 1.2-litre 110-horsepower petrol version bimbles around town. At 30mph in the fourth of five gears, the loudest thing is the air conditioning fan, which itself is only lightly breathing away in the background.

There's nothing remarkable about the way it drives. The soft, chunky seats are unusual these days and very comfortable, the steering is quite slow and unthreatening, and the ride is very smooth over good surfaces and undulating bumps.

Loyal

It's worse over sharp bumps, mind you, where the suspension crashes unexpectedly and noisily, but on the whole the driving experience is that of a car you'd never regret buying or dislike owning. It feels a bit like a loyal family pet.

In terms of raw space there's more for your money out there. But 'value' cars tend to be a bit soulless and that always counts against them. The Cactus definitely has more of a character and a charm that can't entirely be priced up. In terms of providing family-friendly transport that you're not afraid to see bumped around now and again, what could be better?

There could be clever finance deals on the cards, too, if the UK follows suit with Spain's 'pay as you drive' mileage-based finance scheme.

The brilliant news is that this won't just appeal to budget-led buyers who hate looking after their cars. It's a damn fine everyday car with some great quirks and an unusual look, so parents looking for something livelier-looking to put on the drive will love it; as will people bored with the same old hatchback crowd.

This car summed up in a single word: Unconventional. Among a sea of relative boredom it dares to be different, and while it'll raise a few eyebrows, it turns heads and creates big smiles.

TESTED

Citroen C4 Cactus 1.2 PureTech 110, circa £16,000.

DRIVETIME

Great mix of economy, style and performance

By John Griffiths

There's something going on under the bonnet of a new range of Audis which benefits both the environment and drivers – particularly business users.

The company's huge range of models has been joined by 'Ultra' versions of the A4, A5 and A6, using an update of its 2.0-litre turbo diesel engine, already one of the most powerful in its class with up to 190Ps on tap in the case of the A6.

The net result is a saving of hundreds of pounds on fuel, the tax disc and 'benefit in kind' tax without sacrificing performance: indeed, the new Ultra range actually has more oomph than its predecessors.

I drove the Ultra-powered version of the £30,850 A5 Coupe, a sleek executive express with the potential to go from a standstill to 62mph in a rapid 8.3 seconds.

Yet it is also capable of beating many small hatchbacks in terms of economy, with average fuel consumption of more than 67mpg and a CO2 emissions rating of just 109g/km.

This means, compared to its predecessor, the tax band falls from C to B and a 16 per cent drop in the business driver's tax bill – nearly £250 as well as savings at the pumps. The figures are identical for the new Ultra-powered range of A4 saloons.

Saving money and developing your green credentials normally means a trade-off with performance and driving pleasure, but in this case the opposite is true.

The 2.0-litre turbo diesel under the bonnet is a completely new development, designed for even more efficiency and leaner burning. It also has a new 'selective catalytic reduction' system which removes nitrogen oxides from the exhaust gases, ensuring the cars meet EU6 standards, the most stringent ever applied to European cars.

Same

But the driver also has the same maximum engine power of 163Ps under his right foot but at lower revs (1,200rpm lower, at 3,000rpm in fact), and maximum torque is increased to 400Nm and over a wider spread, from just 1,750rpm.

If the figures don't mean much, you will notice the difference long before you pull up at the pumps.

It means in normal driving the car whispers along at very low rpm, saving fuel and reducing noise levels, but a little more pressure from the right foot will send it surging forward smoothly without the need to stir the six-speed manual gearbox.

All the Ultra models come as standard with lowered, sports suspension which not only reduces drag (therefore aiding economy), it also means even sharper handling. The standard alloys are reduced to 17in as a result, equipped with 225/50 low-profile tyres.

It turns into bends positively and accurately and grips well, and based on a test drive on a variety of rural roads, it has little impact on ride quality.

The Ultra models currently come as manual, front-wheel drive only, with no four-wheel drive Quattro versions.

The A5 is only available at present in SE trim, which comes with the sort of kit you'd expect from an upmarket coupe. Driver and front passenger have executive levels of space, but the sleek coupe shape does mean a small sacrifice in room for those in the rear compared to the A4 saloon.

Boot space is well up to class standards, ranging from 455 to 829 litres depending on whether the rear bench seat is up or folded flat.

Driver and passengers can sit back in heated Milano leather upholstery, with the benefit of electronic climate control and an upmarket sound system with multi-media interface.

You also get automatic wipers and lights, parking sensors, satnav, multi-function steering wheel, electric front windows, and cruise control. Safety equipment includes multiple airbags as well as a limited slip differential and the usual array of electronic wizardry, such as ABS and stability control.

Marking a milestone

By Sharon Walters

SsangYong presented a fully refreshed range for 2014, and with registrations up by some 154 per cent on last year, is now one of the UK's fastest growing marques.

With every car in the line-up being covered by an industry leading five-year limitless mileage warranty and representing such great value, perhaps that level of performance is not so surprising.

The brand first arrived in the UK 20 years ago, and to celebrate 60 years of vehicle production, SsangYong has introduced two special limited editions, one based on its popular Korando crossover and the other on the Rexton W 4x4.

All Rexton W 4x4 models are currently being offered with three years free servicing. This includes the Rexton W SX, EX and EX automatic models as well as the CSX commercial, and registered by September 30, 2014.

Combined with the existing market leading five-year limitless mileage warranty that protects all SsangYong cars, this brings three years free servicing (or three services, whichever comes sooner), giving customers complete peace of mind.

The Rexton W range is also currently available with 0 per cent finance from participating dealers.

Built on a steel ladder chassis and with a three-tonne towing capacity, the new SsangYong Rexton W is a serious off-roader and tow-car, yet with all the equipment and creature comforts expected of an urban cruiser. It is powered by SsangYong's own 2.0 litre Euro 5 turbo charged e-XDi200 diesel engine.

Taking the Rexton EX specification, the special 60th anniversary edition adds front parking sensors, an electric sunroof, heated seats front and rear, a power adjustable passenger seat, DAB satnav and is finished in pearl white lily metallic paint.

Available with either six-speed manual or five-speed Mercedes-Benz T-Tronic automatic transmission, prices range between £21,995 and £27,495, with the commercial at £18,495 (ex VAT).

The Giugiaro designed Korando is already noted for its great value, high level of equipment, interior space and two-tonne towing capability, and has been given a makeover inside and out, as well as enhanced driving refinement.

Modern

The new Korando is powered by a modern yet well-proven 2.0-litre Euro 5 turbo diesel engine. There is a choice of power outputs, manual and automatic transmission, and two wheel drive or 4x4.

Based on the four-wheel drive Korando ELX4, the special 60th anniversary edition adds 18in diamond cut wheels, an electric sunroof, rear spoiler and chrome detailing, and is completed with a pearl white lily metallic paint finish. It is available with either manual or automatic transmission.

Korando prices start from just £14,995.

The new SsangYong Turismo is almost without competition. At over five metres long and with a three-metre wheelbase, the car is larger than a standard sized MPV, yet is a car rather than a van-derived 'people carrier'.

Consequently its huge interior space and flexible passenger and load carrying capability means it can carry seven adults and 875 litres of luggage, through to two adults and 3,146 litres of load space. Designed to appeal as family, leisure and business transportation, this new car blends multi-role flexibility with great ride comfort and the appointments and equipment levels of a luxury saloon.

The Turismo is powered by SsangYong's 2.0 litre turbo charged e-XDi200 diesel engine, and there's a choice of six-speed manual and five-speed Mercedes-Benz T-Tronic automatic transmission, and with the EX model, selectable 4x4 with low ratio as standard. All models offer an impressive 2.5-tonne towing capability, and prices start from just £17,995.

The Korando Sports brings a new level of refinement to the pick-up market, blending the suspension, engine and cabin finesse of a passenger car, with the silhouette, space and seating for five that's typical of a double cab, and the rugged workmanlike ability of a commercial pick-up.

This new Korando Sports will appeal to those who need a working vehicle, the practicality of four-wheel drive, the towing capability to haul up to 2.7 tonnes yet also the appointments of a family car. There are two models to choose from, and both are extremely well appointed.

Husband

My dearest Jim, sixty years together, in my heart forever, had we never kissed so gladly, had we never loved so madly, never met and never parted, I wouldn't be so broken hearted.

Goodnight blue eyes, all my love always.

Pam.

NOTICE TO READERS
Please be aware that when purchasing a puppy there are some simple guidelines you can follow to ensure that you are not purchasing from a Puppy Farmer:

1. Try to ensure you visit the puppy whilst it is still with it's Mother.
2. Do not arrange to collect a puppy from any other location than that of the breeder.
3. Ensure that you are given any KC documentation, if pedigree.

Whilst Midland News Association publications take great care to avoid publication of advertisements from Puppy Farmers we cannot accept any liability should readers purchase from this kind of establishment.

CANNOCK CHASE DISTRICT COUNCIL
Planning Act 2008 (as amended)
The Community Infrastructure Regulations 2010 (as amended)
Publication of a Community Infrastructure Levy Draft Charging Schedule for Public Consultation

The Community Infrastructure Levy (CIL) was introduced by Government in 2010 as a means for Local Planning Authorities to fund infrastructure required to support development proposed in a Local Plan. It is designed to be a fairer and more efficient way of funding the necessary infrastructure than the system of negotiating individual planning obligations (S106 agreements) mostly on larger developments. However there will continue to be a more limited role for planning obligations after the introduction of CIL. Infrastructure is defined for this purpose as including roads and other transport infrastructure, flood defences, schools and other education facilities, sport and recreation facilities (including open spaces) and medical facilities.

The CIL charge can be applied to most new developments (excluding affordable housing and development by Charities). It is charged in £s per square metre of the gross internal floorspace of buildings net of demolitions. The CIL charging rate has to be arrived at using evidence of infrastructure needs, funding gaps and development viability. The Council has undertaken this evidence base work and has now published its Draft Charging Schedule for consultation following an initial consultation on a Preliminary Draft earlier in the year.

The schedule sets out that the Council is proposing a charge of £40 per square metre for residential developments, excluding specialist retirement developments, £60 per square metre for some retail developments (large foodstores and retail warehouse/retail park developments only) and a nil charge for all other forms of development.

Accompanying the schedule is a draft list of projects (Regulation 123 List) taken from the Infrastructure Delivery Plan of May 2014, which it is intended should be partly or wholly funded from CIL.

A parallel consultation on a revised Supplementary Planning Document - Developer Contributions and Affordable Housing - is also being undertaken. This reflects the changes required in the use of planning obligations arising from the proposed introduction of CIL.

The consultation runs for six weeks from Friday 8th August to Friday 19th September 2014. The Draft Charging Schedule, Draft Regulation 123 list of projects, Statement of Representations Procedure, Response Form and accompanying evidence base documents are available to view and download at www.cannockchasedc.gov.uk/planningpolicy, or are available on request (see contact details below). Copies of the Draft Charging Schedule and Draft R123 List are also available to view at the Cannock Civic Centre, Rugeley Area Office and the Districts' public libraries (Cannock, Rugeley, Hednesford, Brereton, Norton Canes and Heath Hayes) during normal opening hours.

Comments on the Draft Charging Schedule and Draft R123 List should be forwarded to:
Planning Policy Manager, Cannock Chase Council, Civic Centre, PO Box 28, Beecroft Road, Cannock, Staffs WS11 1BG or email to planningpolicy@cannockchasedc.gov.uk.

ROAD TRAFFIC REGULATION ACT 1984 (AS AMENDED)
ROAD TRAFFIC (TEMPORARY RESTRICTIONS) ACT 1991
STABLE LANE, CALF HEATH
DIVERSION OF VEHICULAR TRAFFIC

NOTICE is hereby given that the Staffordshire County Council intend, not less than seven days from the date of this Notice, to make an Order the effect of which will be to prohibit any vehicle from proceeding in that length of Stable Lane, Calf Heath between its junctions with Woodlands Lane and Straight Mile unless the vehicle is being used in connection with the works; or unless the vehicle requires access to premises on the length of road or is being used for police, fire brigade or ambulance purposes.

The preferred alternative route for traffic will be available via Woodlands Lane, Straight Mile and vice versa.

THE ORDER WILL COME INTO OPERATION ON 03 SEPTEMBER 2014, AND THE SAID WORKS WILL COMMENCE ON OR AS NEAR AS PRACTICABLE TO THAT DATE AND TAKE PLACE DAILY BETWEEN THE HOURS OF 08:30 AND 16:30. IT IS ANTICIPATED THAT THE WORKS WILL BE COMPLETED BY 04 SEPTEMBER 2014.

The Order will remain in force for a period of 18 months or until the essential electrical works, which it is proposed to carry out on or near the road, have been completed, whichever is the earlier.

New boys bring hope to Saddlers

Port Vale 1 Walsall 1

Football

NEW boys Ashley Grimes supplied the pass and Tom Bradshaw the finish just short of the hour mark to cancel out Tom Pope's first-half opener for the hosts.

Nothing is decided on the first day of the season but there was enough here – both in defence as well as attack – for the manager, his players and supporters to remain optimistic for the nine months ahead.

After an opening 45 minutes in which they struggled to get to grips with the hustle and bustle of the home side, the Saddlers assumed control in the second period and looked the only winners once ex-Shrewsbury striker Bradshaw had pulled them level.

Being critical, you might say they that – just as was so often the case last term – they failed to take full advantage of their dominance.

But this was a side which featured three new faces, with a fourth coming off the bench. More attacking arrivals are likely before the month is out and the new-look line-up will take time to gel. The biggest positive was undoubtedly the performance of Grimes.

Given the Saddlers' biggest problem last season was putting the ball in the net, there were more than a few eyebrows raised when Smith opted to bring in a player who failed to do exactly that for Bury in League Two.

But on this evidence, it looks a stroke of genius as the 27-year-old submitted a performance full of endeavour and skill.

Grimes was the visitors' best attacking player in a first half where they often appeared disjointed in the final third.

After the break he was even better, turning and twisting in the box and seeing one shot fly narrowly over, before then having the precision to pick out Bradshaw's run in the build-up to the equaliser.

The scorer too can take pride in a clinical performance. Bradshaw had promised goals would come from the start and duly delivered, netting with his only chance of the match.

Like Grimes, he is also a player who believes he can flourish in the environment Smith and his staff have created at the Saddlers.

Manager to answer questions from fans

PITMEN'S manager Rob Smith will be guest of honour at Hednesford Town Supporters Association's monthly meeting tonight (Thursday).

The event starts at 7.30pm at Keys Park with Smith will be holding a 'Q & A' session from 8.30pm.

The Meet-the-Manager'evenings have become a fixture over recent season's around the eve of the opening home game of the season.

All fans are welcome to attend to put their questions to the man in charge and hear what he has to say about the new Vanarama Conference North campaign.

Association chairman Scott Smith encouraged fans to come along and support the event and expected the manager to be his usual honest and dryly entertaining self.

"It's fantastic that the manager is willing to hold these open question sessions with supporters at the start of the campaign," Smith said, and the SA are hoping for a good turn out.

"Rob always gives an interesting perspective on his plans for the year ahead and the night acts as a great precursor to the first home game against Harrogate Town on Saturday."

Jackett throws down gauntlet to La Parra

KENNY JACKETT threw down the gauntlet to Rajiv van La Parra after his starring Wolves debut.

The boss wants his Dutch dynamo to build on Sunday's man of the match performance in the 1-0 win over Norwich.

The winger is expected to feature from the bench in tonight's Capital One Cup visit of Northampton as Jackett rotates his squad.

Football

But the manager believes after Van La Parra announced his Molineux arrival, setting up Dave Edwards' winner, he can shine.

He said: "He does extra training all the time and looks very fit and explosive so I do think he has the character to back up that performance.

"I don't think he should see Sunday as anything other than a positive.

"He should draw confidence from it and he knows he can do it. That's a nice place to be in when you've just made your debut. It'll be his character which follows it up, he is a really hard working lad.

"He was an unknown quantity but the other side of that is coming to a new country and club. Sunday should give him confidence going forward but the downside is people maybe are aware of you.

"Against the best players and best teams you know who is coming up against you and going to score and you can't stop it because they do it consistently. His challenge is to produce that."

The 23-year-old summer signing from Heerenveen switched wings after playing on the left in Wolves' final friendly against Celta Vigo.

He forced Martin Olsson into two challenges which saw the Norwich defender sent off and Jackett believes the role suited him.

He added: "I still think he showed good bits and was involved in a lot of our good moves (against Celta) but it does change when you are a natural right-sided player and have the pace to go outside."

Meanwhile, talks remain on-going between Wolves and Leicester for Chris Wood. Jackett added: "Kevin Thelwell and Jez Moxey are the ones working on it. We've made no progress necessarily but it's an on-going process."

● Wolves match-winner Dave Edwards revealed he had previously roasted Rajiv van La Parra for not putting in the sort of cross that beat Norwich City.

Van La Parra whipped in the ball headed home by EdwardsHe said: "I remember the first couple of games in pre-season having a go at Rajiv out wide, for taking it inside and having a shot rather than crossing."

Youngsters are on the ball for Villa clash

The ball boys and girls from Chase View PrimarySchool, Rugeley, with Walsall mascot Swifty

RUGELEY students had a ball when they attended Walsall's pre-season friendly against Premiership side Aston Villa.

Youngsters from Chase View Primary School joined their counterparts from Holy Name Catholic Primary school in Great Barr to act as ball boys and girls for the Banks's Stadium clash.

The visitors, featuring the likes of Kieran Richardson, Gabby Agbonlahor and Brad Guzan won 1-0 in front of a crowd of nearly 7,000.

The evening began with a training session and match on the astroturf pitch before the children, led out by Jack Lynch, welcomed the teams onto the field.

Chase View teacher Paul Mobberley said: "Everyone enjoyed an excellent evening in a very closely contested game.

"At the end of the game the children were congratulated by Walsall Community director Paul Larvin for their terrific enthusiasm and behaviour.

"A signed Walsall ball was awarded to Owen Diegnan for showing the best attitude, something he will no doubt remember as he is a Villa season ticket holder."

Some of the group will take on the role again when the Saddlers entertain Chesterfield in October.

Nathan on the mark again

Chasetown 1 Barwell 0

CHASETOWN completed their build-up to the Northern Premier League Division One South season with a 1-0 friendly victory over Barwell.

Summer signing Nathan Waite scored his fourth goal in the pre-season with a sweet finish in the 29th minute after robbing defender Guy Hadland and bending the ball past Liam Castle.

Meanwhile, Rushall Olympic came from behind to beat Stafford Rangers 2-1 at Dales Lane as both sides wrapped up their pre-season programme.

There was a minute's silence in memory of former Rangers' secretary and assistant manager Mike Hughes, who died last week.

Rangers went in front on 33 minutes when a mix-up in the home defence led to goalkeeper Chris Gemmell clearing straight to Ryan Winter, who fired into an empty net to break the deadlock.

But with just nine minutes remaining, Josh Craddock headed home the equaliser.

As the game went into injury time a low cross from Luke Keen was turned in at the far post by Craig Marshall.

Celtic loan switch for Villa flop

VILLA flop Aleksander Tonev has completed a loan move to Celtic.

The 24-year-old Bulgaria international has made just eight starts for Villa since a £2.5m switch from Lech Poznan in June 2013.

The former CSKA Sofia player made a further 12 appearances as a substitute for Paul Lambert's side.

The Hoops can buy Tonev on a permanent basis if the move proves to be a success.

Tonev said: "Joining Celtic is unbelievable, and I feel really good about it.

"I'm delighted to have joined the club and I can't wait to meet up with my new team-mates and start playing for Celtic.

"I already knew all about Celtic."

Dunstall track wins by a length

AND they're off! The revolutionary new track at Wolverhampton Racecourse has been given the thumbsup by jockeys, trainers and fans.

The all-weather £2 million synthetic surface was unveiled on Monday.

Racecourse managing director David Roberts said it was the safest horse surface in the world and would result in more entries for the stadium in Dunstall, which took a break of three months while the project was completed.

Mr Roberts said it was a 'new era' for Wolverhampton.

"I would very much like to thank everyone who has been involved in relaying the track ," he said.

Captain hits ton but win elusive

Cannock 1sts 207 for 6
Aldridge 1sts 161 for 6
Winning draw Cannock

CANNOCK Firsts gained the winning draw at home to Aldridge after posting 207 with captain Will Fleet scoring 102.

Aldridge never looked like reaching their target but also looked unlikely to be bowled out and their innings closed on 161-6 , Connor Shingler taking 3-40.

Cannock 2nds 165 for 0
Aldridge 2nds 163 for 9
Cannock won by 10 wickets

Cannock travelled to Aldridge and came away with a resounding 10-wicket victory. Winning the toss and fielding Cannock bowled well to restrict Aldridge to 163-9. The wickets with shared among the bowlers with Ed Martin taking 3-30.

In reply Cannock got off to a brisk start and never looked back. An unbroken 165 partnership between Dan Wood (82no) and Adam Evans (61no) saw Cannock reach their total with relative ease.

Cannock 3rds 139 all out
Penn 3rds 67 all out
Cannock won by 72 runs.

Bottom of the table Cannock beat league leaders Penn to record their third win of the season in style.

Wolves new season is given an Ed start

Wolves 1 Norwich 0

Football

ONCE Dave Edwards rose to nod in Rajiv van La Parra's cross on Saturday, Wolves' return was complete.

The deserved 1-0 win over Norwich was reward for a tenacious display which Wolves had promised to deliver all summer.

Molineux must become the proverbial fortress in the Championship again. When they were relegated in 2013 they lost nine games, drawing seven and winning just seven as they conceded home ground too often.

This time they went at Norwich, hunting in packs and ensuring the visitors never got the chance to fully impose themselves.

The fallen Canaries, relegated from the Premier League last season, were shellshocked as Wolves maintained their momentum from last season's League One title campaign.

That is not to say Wolves were pitch perfect, they were occasionally loose with possession and lacked penetration in the first half. But they were good enough. There will be talk about a double promotion, Jackett has not done anything to dampen that, and while the result was impressive expectation must be tempered.

Fans know, from sad experience, they can help make or break their team and to add too much pressure from the terraces would surely be counter-productive. Wolves will consolidate but need to add more quality before any serious promotion charge can be mounted.

And Chris Wood, after a summer of interest, is slowly edging into view with Jackett confirming on-going talks with Leicester for the striker. Van La Parra's dangerous deliveries and workrate left Norwich trailing as the 23-year-old – just one of two summer arrivals – justified Jackett's transfer policy of quality, not quantity.

Olsson's dismissal turned the game and it was from Van La Parra's cross that Edwards' scoring run continued. After bagging six goals in his final 10 appearances last season, he netted the winner as Molineux erupted.

The Championship is an unforgiving, league but Wolves went for the jugular early.

Norwich's Olsson is charged by the FA

MARTIN Olsson has been charged with improper conduct by the Football Association after appearing to push referee Simon Hooper when he was sent off during Norwich's 1-0 defeat at Wolves on Sunday.

The Swedish defender was given his marching orders on the hour mark at Molineux after picking up a second booking for a foul on Wolves winger Rajiv van La Parra.

It was as the 26-year-old started to make his way off the pitch at Molineux that he allegedly made physical contact with the official.

He faces the possibility of an extended ban if found guilty.

A statement from the FA read: "It is alleged that Olsson's action in making physical contact with the referee immediately prior to being shown a red card and for his behaviour as he left the field of play amounted to improper conduct, which occurred outside the jurisdiction of the match officials.

"Olsson has until 6pm on August 14 to respond to the charge."

The Canaries have also had to start a racism investigation with Wolves following complaints from supporters at Molineux that La Parra was abused.

Trinity keeper proves block for the Pitmen

Gainsborough 1 Hednesford 0

AN OUTSTANDING performance by home keeper Jan Budtz denied Hednesford Town any reward from their first Conference North outing of the season at Gainsborough.

The Trinity No.1 produced a series of saves to protect the 1-0 lead given to them by a Ciaran Toner header shortly before the break.

The Pitmen began their first season in the division 12 months ago with a 4-0 win against Stalybridge Celtic, and, on the sheer number of chances created by Rob Smith's men, could have racked up a similar score at Gainsborough.

Hednesford started the livelier of the two teams but neither side really threatened on goal throughout a cagey first half until Pitmen's Jamey Osborne peeled off the back of his marker in the left-hand channel and hit a right foot shot which flashed across the far post on 39 minutes.

Osborne was left to rue his miss as Gainsborough came forward and the Pitmen defence momentarily lost their shape and failed to close down Dominic Roma.

His perfectly judged cross gave Toner a run on Jamie Ashmore at the back post to head powerfully in.

In the second half the Pitmen to committed more players forward for the final half an hour once Tom Thorley and Paul Sullivan were introduced for Ben Bailey and Alex Melbourne.

Budtz, the bane of Hednesford all afternoon produced a run of saves fully deserving of the man-of-the-match award, as first Kris Taylor's low left shot was palmed out and Sullivan's rebound was bravely blocked.

Football

Marvin Robinson was introduced and could have twice won the game in the last eight minutes but not before Paul McCone misjudged a long ball only for Trinity's Darryn Stamp to blaze over a golden chance.

That let-off was the signal for Hednesford to pour forward.

Sullivan's shot from a tight angle hit the outside of the post, Budtz again denied him and then Glenn Walker on the rebound.

A Taylor corner was headed powerfully past the keeper by Robinson only for a defender to clear brilliantly off the line.

Sullivan and Robinson both found space in the area in stoppage time but neither could direct their headers away from Budtz and Gainsborough held on for a well-earned but rather fortuitous victory.

The Pitmen were due to welcome Leamington on Tuesday before league favourites Harrogate Town on Saturday.

Eyes forward . . . Hednesford Town's Kris Taylor rises to head the ball clear after a Gainsborough attack

Players told take your chance

BOSS Kenny Jackett has confirmed he will ring the changes against Northampton and urged his players to take their chance.

Leon Clarke, Sam Ricketts and James Henry were due to start in the Capital One Cup clash at Molineux.

Aaron McCarey, Liam McAlinden and Ethan Ebanks-Landell are also expected to feature against the League Two Cobblers.

"Yes, we'll be changing the starting line-up," said Jackett. "There's the opportunity to have a look at the other players."

Give them a chance to stake their claim early in the season and also can they do it, are they good enough? We are going to need them later."

Saddlers hoping for a windfall

WALSALL were close to signing Wolves winger Anthony Forde – as it emerged former striker Troy Deeney could land them a big cash windfall.

Deeney, who currently plays in the Championship for Watford, is the target of several Premier League clubs and it has emerged the Saddlers could take a cut of any transfer fee.

Chief executive Stefan Gamble has confirmed a sell-on clause was inserted in the deal which saw the striker leave the Banks's for the Hornets in 2010 for an initial fee of £500,000.

The exact details of the clause are not known but Deeney looks like commanding a significant fee with Leicester.

Young players' good display

Heath Hayes 0
Basford United 2

A YOUNG Hayes side put up a commendable performance against an expensively assembled Basford side containing six former professionals.

The visitors were the first to make a mark on the game playing some fast, precise football but the home defence coped admirably.

As the half wore on Hayes came more into it but wasted some good possession with some sloppy passing in the final third.

Joe Geldart had an effort shave the bar after good work from Andrew Davies, who had an excellent game in midfield .

Hayes lost their only available striker Tom Green at the break with an ankle injury but despite this they had their best spell of the game after the restart.

Chris Geldart had two glorious chances to give his side the lead.

Basford came back strongly and it took a couple of excellent saves from debutant keeper Tom Burns, to keep his side in the game. But a brace from Ty Nightingale won the game for Basford.

Hayes manager Steve Taylor is trying to boost his side's striking power in time for the home game against Boldmere on August 19.

Nisbett sews the game up

Sporting Khalsa 3
Wellington Amateurs 0

A Marvin Nisbett hat-trick secured Khalsa a comfortable victory against Wellington Amateurs, to give Khalsa's the perfect opening game of the new season.

Khalsa got off to a flyer as Marvin Nisbett opened his account in the fourth minute.

Five minutes later good work from Chris Henry on the wing and his cross was headed home by Marvin Nisbett to put Khalsa two goals up.

Khalsa were in full control of the game and should have increased the lead but the visitor's keeper kept Khalsa at bay so they went into the break with a two goal advantage.

It was in the last 10 minutes that Khalsa sewed up the game and scored their third through Marvin Nisbett.

Molineux race row yobs identified by fans

Football

RACIST hooligans who abused Wolves player Rajiv van La Parra during the opening match of the Championship against demoted Norwich City have been identified – by their own fellow fans.

Some Canaries supporters abused the player as he received physio treatment on the sidelines near the Steve Bull Stand, where away fans were housed during the match which Wolves won 1-0.

Wolves boss Kenny Jackett said: "We all know there's no place for racism and we all want it stamped out.

"Every season we have to keep addressing it and make sure it reduces. It seems to have been reported by Norwich fans about Norwich fans and I would commend the people because all of us within the game and within society want to eradicate that as much as possible."

Both Wolves and Norwich received reports of the abuse from a small number of away supporters. Norwich fans themselves reported the claims.

Molineux staff said the perpetrators had been identified and Norwich confirmed that anyone found guilty or racist behaviour would be banned from Carrow Road for life.

Steve Sutton, facilities and safety manager at Molineux, said: "Towards the end of the game, we received reports of an isolated incident involving a small number of Norwich supporters and, when stewards investigated, allegations of racism were made against two individuals. Club officials will now be co-operating and working closely with their counterparts at Norwich, and the relevant authorities have been informed.

"We deplore racist behaviour and are grateful to those Norwich supporters who brought it to the stewards' attention. It is thanks to those supporters, in highlighting the behaviour of their fellow fans, and the stewards, that the perpetrators have been identified."

Norwich said they had now passed the evidence on to West Midlands Police.

A club statement said: "Following allegations of racist behaviour, the club is passing our evidence on to police.

"The club will ban any fans guilty of racist behaviour from Carrow Road for life."

MOORE DEJA VU FOR THE PITMEN

Hednesford Town 1 Leamington 2

A fantastic strike from Stefan Moore downed Hednesford Town for the second season in succession.

And they suffered their second defeat on the bounce at the start of the new Vanarama Conference North campaign, writes Scott Smith.

The scoreline was a repeat of the last time these two teams met in December last year when Moore was also involved in the Pitmen's downfall after they surrendered a one goal lead.

Thankfully the 19-man brawl which broke out towards the end and saw five yellow cards handed out during the match wasn't repeated.

This time the evenly contested first half saw Leamington edge ahead in the 20th minute when Lee Moore tapped home from six yards out after Hednesford Town goalkeeper Dan Crane had palmed the ball on to the crossbar.

Vigour

Hednesford came out with a renewed vigour in the second period and they almost drew level in the 62nd minute when Francino Francis saw his diving header strike the post and bounce away to safety.

Ten minutes later substitute Marvin Robinson saw his header strike the crossbar as it looked as if Hednesford's luck may be out.

However, in the 80th minute they dragged themselves level as Danny Glover headed home Kris Taylor's freekick.

The Pitmen were dealt a cruel blow in the 87th minute when a ball down the middle fell to the striker Moore who lobbed Crane from 30 yards and into the back of the net.

Football

Hednesford will be looking to respond on Saturday when much fancied Harrogate Town visit Keys Park, 3pm kickoff.

Hednesford Town: Crane, Ashmore, Campion, Bailey (Sullivan 46 (Robinson 57)), Francis, McCone, Osborne, Taylor, Glover, Walker, Thorley (Melbourne 9 mins)

Subs not used: Butlin, Macpherson

Leamington: Collett, Mace, Morley, Magunda, Pierpoint, Tank, Moore (Connelly 90), Goddard, Moore, Newton, Batchelor (Edwards 71)

Subs not used: Hubbins, Naylor, Maher

Attendance: 627

● The Hednesford Supporters Association is meeting tonight ahead of a Q&A session with the club's manager. The meeting is open to all, members or otherwise, to give their views .

The Chase Suite will open from 7.15pm with the bar open through the evening.

Danny Glover celebrates as his header creates the equaliser against Leamington

Kitching's tribute to chairman

STAFFORD RANGERS manager Neil Kitching spoke of his shock at the death of chairman and Marston Road stalwart Mike Hughes.

Hughes died suddenly last week during a family holiday, leaving the club in mourning. And Kitching, who worked closely with the popular director after joining Rangers in the summer, admitted the whole squad was in shock.

He said: "Mike was the club. He's been my main point of contact since I took over in the summer and he was great to work with.

"I had only known him properly for six or seven weeks, but I knew him long enough to learn how hard he worked for Stafford Rangers. He ran the club from top to bottom. He did it all and if ever I needed anything or wanted any help, Mike was the person I called."

Hughes took over as chairman, having previously served the club tirelessly as secretary.

And Kitching admitted the loss had hit some of his players hard.

"The ones who have been here for a while were hit even harder ."

Lockmen let the lead slip

Willenhall 2 Gornal 2

WILLENHALL got off to the perfect start when Craig Sudlow scored after only five minutes.

In the 39th minute Jack Pottinger extended the lead.

However, Matt Vaughan powered home a header for Gornal from a flag-kick before Rion Francis-Mills poked home a leveller.
